GIANT WHITE STAR LINER IN DASH FOR ENGLAND.

Ocean Greyhound Loaded to Capacity With Provisions and Coal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Loaded to her carrying capacity with provisions and coal, the White Star liner Olympic suddenly left her pier here today and sailed for Liverpool. She had been announced to sail yesterday with passengers and cargo, but at the last moment her orders were changed by the British Admiralty and her passengers were transferred to the Adriatic of the same line, on which they sailed. Clearance papers were issued to the Olympic Friday. The Olympic met the American liner New York coming in.

Capt. Roberts of the New York on the steamer communicated by wireless with the British cruiser Essex Tuesday, but no war vessels had been sighted. Being an American vessel she was in no danger of capture.

The only other passenger-carrying steamer from Europe to reach port today was the Italian liner Caserta, which left Genoa July 25, and Naples July 30th, before any hint of war was in the air. She had forty-five first and 179 steerage passengers. She encountered no warships.

A sailing vessel which feared an encounter, however, was the British oil tank steamer Mappen, which came in from Oporto in ballast. To avoid French and British warships she took a southerly course, painting her funnel black and taking all possible precautions against capture.

The French steamer Venesia of the Fabre line, whose destination ordinarily is Marseilles, sailed today for Montreal. Shipping men said tonight she might either be destined to carry French reservists abroad from the Dominion or to take on a cargo of Canadian grain for France.

CHARTER VESSEL FOR AMERICANS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CHRISTIANIA (via London) Aug. 10, 1:40 a.m.—The steamer Kristianiafjord will sail August 12 with 1200 American passengers, as also will the steamer Haakon VII, which has been specially chartered to go to Boston with 150 American refugees.

A meeting attended by 600 Americans today cheered a report that the American government had provided means for taking them home. A committee of the tourists and the American Minister are arranging details for their departure.

Report Czech Soldiers Shot.

Town in Belgium Now Threatened by Germans.

General view of Dinant,

In Belgium, south of Namur, near which a troop of the Kaiser's cavalry was seen yesterday, which is taken by military experts to be an indication that the movement to Paris is still on and that the attack on Liege was intended merely to veil the real object of the expedition.

BRITISH SHIP SEEKS SAFETY.

UNION OIL BOAT PUTS INTO SAN FRANCISCO.

Steamship Trinculo Is Informed by the Wireless that a German Cruiser Had Been Sighted Off Cape Flattery—Pacific Mail Liner Persia Is Overdue.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Three British vessels—two steamers and a bark—arrived here today.

Acting on a wireless message from the American steamer Whittier, to the effect that the tanker Lansing had sighted a German cruiser south of Cape Flattery Tuesday morning, the steamer Trinculo of the Union Oil Company fleet, bound with oil from Port San Luis for Vancouver, put into port.

The Persia left Honolulu August 2 on the last leg of her voyage across the Pacific, and was a full seven days out from the island port at 4 p.m. today, which is a longer time than she usually requires to make the trip. She carries about 200 passengers and a cargo variously estimated as valued between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

CRUISE TAKING COAL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Aug. 9.—The German cruiser Karlsruhe arrived this morning, supposedly from Haitien waters. She called for supplies, including coal. The French and English Consuls protested to Gov. Arthur Yaeger that the cruiser had no right to take coal.

The captain of the cruiser claimed the right, under the proclamation of President Wilson, to take enough coal to enable his ship to make the nearest home port, which is Hamburg. The Governor declined to interfere and the cruiser is now coaling and will leave within twenty-four hours.

PASSES GERMAN CRUISER.

Union Oil Tanker Lansing Reports Seeing Warship South of Cape Flattery on Tuesday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Capt. Edward Bugge of the Union Oil Company tanker Lansing, which arrived in port today, reported passing a German cruiser seventy miles south of Cape Flattery at 6:40 a.m., Tuesday.

The cruiser was within three-quarters of a mile of the tanker. She displayed no colors, and was under little headway. The Lansing broke out the American flag, to which the cruiser responded by running out the German ensign. The Lansing steamed on southward, without being boarded as was reported earlier in the day.

THE WEATHER BACK EAST.

Chicago Has Small Rains and Many States in Central West Experience a Considerable Downpour.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 9.—Chicago temperature rose to 90 today. Squally rains imperiled many lake craft and brought slight relief. Cincinnati was six degrees cooler than Chicago. Rain fell over Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota and North Dakota and over some of the eastern States. In St. Paul 3.20 inches fell, while Duluth had 1.30 inches. The Southwest is slightly cooler but still dry.

Mowed Down.

GERMANS' DEADLY TASK AT THE MEUSE BRIDGE.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent in a dispatch filed Sunday, says:

"How deadly was the task the Germans undertook in rebuilding the bridge over the River Meuse is shown by the Rotterdam Courant's correspondent at Maastricht. A pontoon bridge, built by the Germans, he says, was shot away so that further troops could not cross it. The twenty-fifth and nineteenth German regiments, which supported the bridge builders, were mowed down by the quick-firing guns. A wounded Belgian was asked how the Germans had fared and replied in one word, 'Annihilated.'

"The wounded who can be transported by rail are to be brought from the hospitals at Maastricht to Alkmaar."

Another correspondent, who visited the battlefields at Vis and Liege, writes:

"Not far from the little Dutch frontier village of Mesch, I passed the remains of a bigger camp. Dead soldiers, civilians and horses, wagons, carts, automobiles and bicycles lay in confusion. Germans and Belgians lay side by side—evidence that there was fighting man to man. Houses had been sacked because the soldiers wished to avenge themselves on civilians who fired upon them from windows.

"Civilians who did not fight are allowed to pass, but German guards refuse to allow this courtesy to the Belgian civilians who were engaged in the battle. Poor wretches, they must wait where they lie, not daring to move, for they declare they will be shot at.

"I met a party of German officers in an automobile. They held their revolvers in their hands and scrutinised me closely. They appeared to be dispirited because of the fact that twice during the last two days there had been a panic and German soldiers had fired on comrades by mistake. They asked me not to speak in the presence of the wounded.

"After the constant fighting the soldiers were exhausted, but they lay by the side of their horses, fully clothed, ready to be roused at a moment's notice."

Threatening.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—A dispatch from Rome to the Daily Mail says a report is current that Emperor William has left Berlin in a motor car for the Alsatian frontier.

The Daily Mail's Rome correspondent adds that according to dispatches from Basel, Switzerland, the Germans have evacuated Sankt Ludwig in Alsace, four miles to the northwest of Basel and that a battle is imminent on the Franco-Swiss frontier.

A dispatch to the Times from Berne, Switzerland, says 40,000 Austrian troops have concentrated near Basel, and that German and French troops also are near the Swiss frontier, so that a big battle may occur at any moment.

The Foreign Office has received a telegram from the British Vice-Consul at Venice saying that the Austrian merchantman Izgiad which arrived at Venice Friday, reported a strong Austrian fleet off Pola, Austria, and that the lights in the lighthouses of the Austrian coast of the Adriatic had been extinguished.

Reckless.

FRENCH BAYONET CHARGE FEATURE OF THE BATTLE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 10 (2:10 a.m.)—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph has sent the following dispatch to his paper:

"All reports agree on the intense enthusiasm of the troops who hurled themselves recklessly on the enemy with bayonets in the battles at Altkirch and Muelhausen.

"A big cavalry encounter has occurred on the plateau east of the Meuse, probably at Woevre, in the departments of Meuse and Meurthe-et-Moselle. It is reported that the fight resulted favorably for our allies.

"The net result of the operations so far is known, is that the German advance has been stopped on the line of the Meuse and they have been outflanked in Belgium by the advancing French masses. Similarly, the Germans are strategically outflanked by the French advance into Alsace. Thus the hostile flanks are menaced and their front is seriously contracted.

"The arrival of the British troops is anxiously awaited by France and Belgium in view of the imminence of a decisive encounter between the French and German armies."

WHEAT FOR ENGLAND.

British Steamer Dalecrest Leaves Norfolk for Queenstown With Quarter of a Million Bushels.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NORFOLK (Va.) Aug. 9.—With 232,000 bushels of wheat, the British steamer Dalecrest sailed last night for Queenstown. She had all her lights burning when she cleared Cape Henry.

The Dalecrest's original destination was Hamburg.

The British steamer Rio Pallaresa, Capt. Mankin, which arrived yesterday from Galveston, reported seeing a four-funneled foreign cruiser near the entrance to Providence channel off the coast of Florida.

WARSHIP OFF NEW JERSEY.

BALTIMORE (Md.) Aug. 9.—The Norwegian steamer Camilla, which arrived here yesterday from New York, reported having sighted a German warship just after daybreak on Thursday.

At that time the Camilla was between Atlantic City and Barnegat. The warship, Capt. Steffensen said, was a German cruiser with three stacks. She was painted a dark gray color. Both ships were about nine miles off shore.

Kaiser's Troops Admitted to Have Taken City With Many Prisoners.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The military critics of the Journal des Debats consider the report from Rome that Emperor William has left Berlin to join the general staff of the German army on the Alsatian frontier to indicate that the Germans are ready to engage the French in great force and that a general engagement is impending.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome says that Emperor William has arrived at Aix-la-Chappelle to join his army.

ATHENS (Via London, 1:45 p.m.,) Aug. 9.—Large Turkish forces have concentrated on Bulgarian territory, near Ferejik, in the vicinity of the River Maritsa. They are moving apparently in the direction of the frontiers of Thrace and Bulgaria by agreement with Bulgaria.

LONDON (1:30 a.m.,) Aug. 10.—The Admiralty has announced that one of the cruiser squadrons of the main fleet was attacked yesterday by German submarines. None of the British ships were damaged. One German submarine was sunk. No details were given as to the place at which the fight occurred. The submarine sunk by the British fleet was the U-15, which was built in 1912 and displaced 300 tons. She carried a crew of twelve men.

LONDON, Aug. 10 (4:10 a.m.)—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Tokio says:

"An all-night Cabinet conference and activity in the Navy Department has strengthened the popular belief that Japan is about to take an active part in the war. A pronouncement by the government is hourly expected."

LONDON, Aug. 10 (3:15 a.m.)—The occupation of Liege by the Germans is confirmed in a dispatch received here from Brussels early this morning.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Much perturbation was caused here today by reports from German sources of the fall of the Belgian city of Liege and the capture of thousands of prisoners. Messages from Brussels up to 1:20 p.m. today said Belgian troops still held out and that there had been "no serious occupation of the town by the Germans."

Dispatches from Brussels spoke of a review of the defenders of the city of Liege by King Albert, but did not say where His Majesty received them. The troops reviewed by the King apparently were, in the opinion of people here, the field army which had been operating at Liege and which was reported as leaving the city to join King Albert's army, the reason given being that the forts of the city were considered able to take care of theselves against the German forces.

Dispatches from Berlin from the semi-official agency there were positive in their statements that "Liege is

FRANCE IS ENTHUSIASTIC AT REPORTED VICTORY,

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The invasion of Lower Alsace by a French army under the command of Gen. Joseph Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, has awakened great enthusiasm throughout France.

The Alsatian inhabitants are said to have been so overjoyed at the appearance of the French army that they tore up the frontier posts.

Detailed orders were issued today by both the French and Belgian governments making the industrial resources of the two countries common property, while the arms factories in France and Belgium are working in co-operation in supplying military material. Coal and grain are to be utilized in common by the two countries, and there is to be complete coordination of military resources.

OCCUPY GERMAN COLONY.

The Governor-General of French West Africa telegraphed to the Colonial Office today, stating that the French forces there, in co-operation with an English warship, have occupied the German colony of Togoland. At the same time a British warship appeared off Port Lome, the French garrison of Grand Popo, in Dahomey, crossed the frontier and occupied the eastern part of the German colony.

All the wireless stations in France and Algeria were suppressed today by the government, except in cases where special authorization had been given or where they were used for military purposes.

It was nightfall Friday when the advance guard of the French brigade approached Altkirch in Alsace says a French official statement. The city was well defended and occupied by a German brigade. The French began the assault with ardor, a regiment of infantry distinguishing itself in a furious charge shortly after which the Germans retired in disorder.

A regiment of French cavalry followed the enemy, inflicting serious losses. A French colonel and seven of his men were wounded.

Darkness permitted the Germans to conceal themselves and the French entered the city amid the cheers of the people.

At dawn the advance guard resumed its march. The cavalry failed to find German patrols and the march of the entire brigade on Muelhausen was begun.

GERMANS RETIRE.

Saturday afternoon the scouts found that numerous and important defenses protecting the city had been abandoned and in less than half an hour the French occupied Muelhausen. Later it was learned that Germans had retired in the direction of Nue-Breisach. The spirit of the troops was excellent.

Joffre, who has received the congratulations of the War Department, addressed a proclamation to Alsace, saying that the French soldiers were the first workers in a great task of revenge.

Two German steamers, the Neptune and Adriana, have been seized at Rouen. Their officers and crews of thirty men were imprisoned.

BRITISH AND FRENCH AID FOR BELGIUM'S DEFENSE.

War Office at the Capital States the Three Armies Will Work Together in the Future — Kaiser's Troops Are Said to Be Active in Luxemburg, a Cavalry of Patrol Being Sighted South of Namur.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRUSSELS, Aug. 9.—Belgian official reports received by the War Office record the important fact that a junction has been effected by Belgian, British and French troops across the line of the German advance through Belgium. The location of the troops of the three armies was not revealed, but in any future operation, it is understood that they will act together.

Reports reached here by way of London that according to announcements made public in Berlin, Liege had fallen into the hands of the German troops.

The sighting of a German cavalry patrol to the south of Namur today was evidence of the activity of the German forces in Luxemburg, showing that they were reconnoitering to discover the position of the defending armies.

FRENCH MOVEMENTS.

In the meantime, the French troops who have crossed the frontiers of Belgium, continued to advance methodically, and their approach strengthens the position of the Belgian army from hour to hour.

When a French officer arrived at Namur in an automobile today, the citizens hoisted him on their shoulders and carried him through the streets of the city.

It was reported today that the greater part of Luxemburg which had been occupied by the Germans had been cleared of the invaders by the advance of the French army.

It is reported that Germany has sent a new threatening message to Belgium.

BELGIANS VOLUNTEER.

Patriotic enthusiasm reigns among all classes and thousands of volunteers have joined the young recruits called to the colors to assist in the national defense. All the troops sent to the front have displayed excellent spirits while many of the soldiers wounded at Liege have asked to be sent to rejoin their regiments as soon as their wounds have been healed.

A German officer and a number of German soldiers who surrendered to the Belgians at Liege declared they had done so because they were Socialists. They condemned the war as unjust.

Two Belgian officers charged with important missions passed through the advanced lines of the Germans uninjured, although they drew the fire of the German troops.

AVIATOR ARRESTED.

The Belgian aviator, Alfred Lanser, was today arrested on suspicion of being a spy.

It was reported here today that the German commanders hitherto have pushed to the front the regiments from Hanover and Mecklenburg, keeping the Prussian regiments in reserve, as they did in the war of 1870.

LIEGE IS STILL HOLDING OUT.

LONDON, Aug. 10 (2:05 a.m.)—Telegraphing from Brussels, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says of the fighting at Liege:

"The Germans tried to overpower the forts by flinging immense bodies of men against them in mass formation. The last Prussian assault on Boncelles reminded one of the early days of Port Arthur. The infantry melted away before the machine guns of the defenders.

"The morale of the Prussians was entirely broken toward the end of the general attack. The casualties among the German officers were considerable. The attackers ran short of rifle ammunition. Wounded Germans declared they had had no food for two days."

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Brussels says Liege is invested and all communication cut off, but the forts are intact and can hold out for months. Brussels, he adds, has been turned into a vast hospital, hotels, private houses and public buildings having been given over to the Red Cross.

The Daily Mail's correspondent says the city of Liege is, to some extent, invested by the Germans, but that the forts are holding out and will not surrender, as the garrisons will blow them up when resistance is no longer possible. The correspondent also says that the bombardment Sunday was only intermittent, supposedly because the ammunition of the Germans was nearly exhausted.

GERMANS BATTLE NEAR MAASTICHT.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Amsterdam, commenting on the Belgian denial that the Germans had captured all but one of the forts at Liege, says it is remarked at Amsterdam that the German government refers specifically to the forts, but does not mention the town.

A dispatch to the Antwerp Handelsbad from Maasticht states that the Germans have received reinforcements and completely occupy the Belgian territory bordering on the Dutch province of Limburg. They are now engaged with the Belgian army, which has taken its position near Tongres, eleven miles south of Maasticht. The fighting was progressing this afternoon in the Valley of the Geer.

A number of wounded Germans were brought to Maasticht from Monck village tonight. An engagement is taking place at Eoen, near the boundary between Belgium and Holland.

LIEGE ENTERED FRIDAY NIGHT.

LONDON, Aug. 10, 8:30 a.m.—A dispatch to the Express from Brussels, timed in that city at noon yesterday, says the Germans entered Liege on Friday night and occupied the town, although the forts were not taken. The occupation was accomplished decorously, Gen. Von Emmich having been warned from Berlin against allowing his men to commit excesses. The troops, headed by cavalry, approached the town along the main eastern roads through charred forests.

EAGER TO LEAVE BRITISH ISLES.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Many of the Americans who arrived in England yesterday on board the White Star line steamer Oceanic already are applying to the American Relief committees for cash and a return passage to the United States. The passengers who were released from the Hamburg-American line steamers Kronprinzessin Cecilie and Prinz Albert, interned at Falmouth, also are applying for aid.

The German steamship lines refuse to grant refunds on ticket deposits, travelers being given only non-transferable orders on the New York offices of the company.

Theodore Hetzler of New York, head of the Citizens' Committee, said today that his committee was working in complet harmony with the London Relief Committee.

HARPIES AT WORK.

Because of female harpies representing themselves as committee agents, the committee today appointed three agents, two of them women, to meet all incoming trains. Three American girls who were approached in a railroad station yesterday by false agents said their suspicions were aroused by the kind of lodgings to which they were recommended, whereupon they escaped. The police today assigned detectives to arrest suspicious characters.

FINLAND SAILS.

The Red Star line steamer Finland sailed from Dover at 4 o'clock this afternoon for New York. The Finland has aboard a large number of Americans.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE CZAR.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 9 (via London, Aug. 10, 10 a.m.) — The following statement has been issued by the General Staff:

"The position of the German troops has hardly changed since Saturday. Their advance detachments are retreating under the irresistible pressure of the French troops who are in considerable force in all the country south of the Meuse which they are clearing of German troops. The enemy's offensive movement has been completely stopped. The French and Belgian troops will take the offensive simultaneously, in accordance with concerted plans."

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE

The Times' never-failing lead over all other local newspapers in the volume of advertising printed demonstrates beyond the peradventure of a doubt that as a business-getter for its advertising patrons this newspaper is in a class by itself.

in our hands and 3000 or 4000 Belgian prisoners are en route to Germany."

Nothing definite had been obtained from Brussels on the subject up to 8 o'clock this evening, London time, when an official announcement said: "Liege is invested, but all the forts are still in Belgian hands and there has been no serious occupation of the town by the Germans."

REPORTS FROM BELGIUM.

Reports from the Belgian Minister of War, stating that there had been enormous losses during the fighting between the French and Germans in Lower Alsace were received here. They stated that the Germans had lost 30,000 killed and wounded, and the French 15,000, but it was later explained that these reports were based on unofficial advices received at the Belgian Ministry of War.

The Berlin semi-official news agency indirectly reaffirms the capture of Liege by the Germans. It refers to King Albert's order of the day congratulating the defenders of the city and says:

"This order of the day has evidently been superseded by the capture of Liege by the Germans."

The object of the German advance is believed to be Namur on their left flank and Louvaine on their right flank. If this opinion is correct military men believe a great battle is imminent between the German and Belgian armies, the latter probably being reinforced by British and French allies.

GOOD NEWS TO SHIPPERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Belgium will cover risks of war on shipments of American wheat for Belgian ports, Pierre Mali, the Belgian Consul in New York, announced today.

Mr. Mali said he had received cable instructions from the Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs in Brussels to inform wheat exporters to this effect.

TOLUCA AND PACHUCA ARE REPORTED IN THE HANDS OF CARRANZA.

SAN LUIS POTOSI (Mex.) Aug. 9.—Two State capitals—Toluca, in Mexico, and Pachuca, in Hidalgo—have been captured by Constitutionalists, according to an announcement at Constitutionalist headquarters today. Both cities are within 100 miles of Mexico City.

Gen. Carranza today issued a decree to Governors of all states requesting their views on the agrarian question. In some states partition of lands among the poor already has taken place.

Gen. Eduardo Hay has been appointed Under Secretary of War to replace Gen. Angeles, deposed at the time of the Carranza-Villa split.

PARIS INFORMED LIEGE IS QUIET.

GERMANS AWAIT REINFORCEMENTS, IS OFFICIAL FRENCH STATEMENT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 9.—An official statement issued tonight says the Germans apparently are waiting before Liege for reinforcements with which they may flank the Belgian position, probably toward Huy, to the southeast of Liege on the route to Namur. Huy is defended by a single fort, which is well armed and situated on a spur of rock detached from Mt. Picard, on the right bank of the River Meuse. The fort dominates the town of Huy and the bridge and the roads to Namur and Liege.

GERMANS SAID TO LACK FOOD.

PARIS (Via London) Aug. 9.—An official announcement issued today says that confirmation has been received that the Germans invading Belgium are lacking in provisions, having undertaken to force their way into the country without making adequate preparations. Isolated patrols are said to be surrendering, to get food.

LIEGE ARMISTICE DENIED BY PAPER.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—(9:30 p.m.) A dispatch to the Central News from Brussels says the newspaper Etoile Belge asserts there has not been a moment's armistice at Liege. According to the same newspaper 100,000 rifles of the latest pattern have fallen into the hands of the Belgians.

Body Will Then Be Taken to Georgia for Burial.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, will be held in the east room of the White House at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with extreme simplicity. For the day, official business will be banished from the executive mansion and Washington and the nation will join with the President in mourning for his dead.

Immediately after the services here the body will be taken to Rome, Ga., the burial place of Mrs. Wilson's parents. It was understood here tonight that during the trip through the South the people will pay respect by tolling church bells as the special train passes. Christ Church, in Alexandria, Va., which George Washington attended, has decided on this tribute.

Outside of members of the Wilson family, only members of the Cabinet and their wives, the members of special committees from the Senate and House, a few intimate friends and the employees of the White House, will be present at the services here.

SIMPLE SERVICES.

Th simple Presbyterian funeral service, without music, will be conducted by the Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., and the Rev. J. M. Taylor of Washington.

It will include selections from the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians, and the fourteenth chapter of St. John, short prayers and a benediction.

While the services are in progress both houses of Congress and all departments will be closed and all flags in the Capitol will be at half-mast. The White House grounds will be closed to the public.

TRIP SOUTH.

The members of the family will be taken to the railroad station soon after the services here, and the train will leave for Rome at 4:35 o'clock, arriving at Atlanta, Ga., at noon, Tuesday, and at Rome at 2:30 o'clock. There will be a special car for the flowers.

In addition to the President, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre and Secretary and Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, those in the funeral party will be Prof. Stockton Axson, Mrs. Wilson's brother; J. R. Wilson, the President's brother; George Howe, the President's nephew; Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U.S.N. James Woodrow, a cousin of the President, will join the train at Spartanburg, S. C., and Miss Alethea S. Axson and Miss Carrey Bell Axson, cousins of Mrs. Wilson, at Atlanta.

The President spent today quietly at the White House with his daughters, seeing only Secretary Bryan on official business. Miss Lucy Smith, the President's cousin, went to church. Messages of sympathy and flowers continued to arrive through the day.

A PREMEDITATED WAR? STATEMENT OF THE FRENCH.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—An official statement issued today says that German mobilization posters placed on walls in the towns of Vic and Moyenvic, Alsace-Lorraine prove the French contention that the war was premeditated on the part of the Germans. The towns were occupied by the French yesterday and, according to the statement, the posters which they found afforded them valuable information concerning Germany's mobilization, besides revealing that Germany had decided upon war at the time the Triple Entente was redoubling its efforts for peace.

OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA.

Plague Is Reported at Rome to Have Appeared Among the Austrian and Servian Troops.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME (Via London,) Aug. 9.—It is reported here that cholera has broken out among both the Austrian and Servian troops.

The German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which recently were forced to leave Messina, Sicily, are reported to have succeeded in passing through the Straits of Otranto into the Adriatic Sea.

Forty-eight trainloads of Austrian troops from the Tyrol arrived today at Leopoldshoehe, in Baden, to the northwest of Basel, Switzerland. They were on their way to Alsace to assist the Germans.

The known German loss in the battle of Liege is placed at 25,000. The Belgian loss is placed at 7500.

SCANDINAVIAN ALLIANCE.

Sweden and Norway Formally Agree to Maintain Neutrality by Extreme Measures if Necessary.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CHRISTIANIA, Aug. 9.—(Via London.) The maintenance of Scandinavian neutrality in the face of the European war promises to effect a permanent Swedish-Norwegian alliance. An official statement has been issued setting forth that the two governments have mutually agreed to go to extremes in order to maintain their neutrality and have exchanged formal assurances with a view to making it impossible for the state of war existing in Europe to cause these kingdoms to take hostile measures against each other.

As an outcome of this agreement, the Swedish and Norwegian general staffs are working on a plan for the joint defense of the peninsula which, it is expected, will eventuate in a permanent alliance. The Liberals have abandoned their opposition to the government's plan for defense.

The Russian Ambassador to Germany, S. N. de Sverbeew, while passing through Stockholm today, gave an interview in which he confirmed earlier reports of the scenes attending his departure from Berlin. He stated that he and his staff were brutally treated by a mob in the German capital.

DESCRIBE ENTRY OF MUELHAUSEN.

FRENCH REJOICE AT CAPTURE OF IMPORTANT CITY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 9.—(Via London.) The French Minister of War gives the following official account of the occupation of Muelhausen in Alsace-Lorraine by the French Saturday:

"During the march from Altkirch the French forces passed the abandoned earthworks and defenses of Muelhausen. The populace came out from the town and in a frenzy of delight welcomed the French troops. The cavalry galloping through the streets pursued the German rear guard. The French established themselves north of Muelhausen. Rout is the only word with which to describe the German retreat. The French losses were not excessive when the result is considered. The occupation of Muelhausen, the great industrial and intellectual center of Alsace, will reverberate through Europe.

"The Germans retired in the direction of Neu Breisach. The whole of Alsace will rise against them and aggravate their position."

The Minister of War sent a congratulatory telegram to Gen. Joffre, saying:

"This initial success will have a moral effect in bringing profound satisfaction to the nation. I thank you in the name of the government."

It was nightfall on Friday when the advance guard of the French brigade approached Altkirch, says the official statement. The city was well defended and occupied by a German brigade. The French began the assault with ardor, a regiment of infantry distinguishing itself in a furious charge, shortly after which the Germans retired in disorder. A regiment of French cavalry followed the enemy, pursuing them in the direction of Waltheim and Tugolischen, inflicting serious losses upon them. A French colonel and seven of his men were wounded. Darkness permitted the Germans to conceal themselves and the troops of France entered the city amid the cheers of the people. All windows of the houses were thrown open, veterans of 1870 embraced the French soldiers and a great shout resounded.

At dawn the advance guard resumed its march. The cavalry failed to find German patrols and the march of the entire brigade of Muelhausen was begun. In the afternoon of Saturday the scouts found that numerous and important defenses protecting the city had been abandoned, and in less than half an hour later, the French, wildly cheering the tri-color, occupied Muelhausen. Later it was learned that the Germans had retired in the direction of Neu Breisach. The spirit of the troops was excellent and the occupation of the city will have a great effect.

Gen. Joffre, who has received the congratulations of the War Department, addressed a proclamation to Alsace, saying that the French soldiers were the first workers in a great task of revenge.

SENATE PLANS TO HASTEN AMERICAN SHIPPING BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Administration leaders in Congress have ceased to think about adjournment. Although some of them believe the regular business of the session can be completed soon after September 1, they fear that possible emergencies that may arise through the war in Europe will make it imperative that Congress remain in Washington.

Senator Kern and Representative Underwood, the majority leaders, refuse to discuss adjourning. Talk about the Capitol is, however, that the developments of the next few weeks indicate that it will be in prospect for the United States already has not been adopted. DUCHESS TRIES TO STOP ARMY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 10 (2:15 a.m.)—A German major was the first to cross the bridge (entering Luxemburg.) He found his way barred by a Cabinet Minister who turned his automobile across the bridge and taking a copy of the Berlin treaty from his pocket showed it to the major, who remarked.

"I am acquainted with it, but have orders which I must execute."

Immediately afterward Marie Adelaide, Grand Duchess of Luxemburg, drove up in a motor car, which the chauffeur turned lengthwise across the bridge, while the Duchess exclaimed:

The German officer answered:

"You had better go home quietly."

When the commander of the Luxemburg army remonstrated, the German officer, pointing a revolver toward the commander, retorted:

"If these are not your methods they are ours. Clear out."

Soon the work of military destruction began. Villas and farmhouses were demolished, says the correspondent, and thickets cut down for strategic purposes. Forts Declared Ready for Prolonged Resistance.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch from the Standard's Brussels's correspondent, timed 6 o'clock last night, says:

"The Minister of War authorizes me to state that Liege has not been occupied by the Germans."

Telegraphing from Brussels, the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"It is reported here that many Bavarians are deserting or refusing to join their colors, the idea of fighting the peaceable Belgians, whose Queen is a beloved Bavarian Princess, being very unpopular.

"There have been no movements by the Germans for three days. Beyond the range of the forts' fire, they are resting and recovering their strength. The threatened attack along the Ourthe River is suspended.

"These facts, in view of the Belgian general staff, denote insufficient preparation and that the German concentration was not fully carried out. Liege is now invested by the Germans, but this was expected and is regarded as unimportant.

"The forts are ready for further and prolonged resistance, while Belgian field forces apart from the Liege garrison, are massing in the right directions.

"The portion of Belgian Luxemburg invaded by Germans is being cleared of them by the advancing French troops, who are marching forward with the greatest speed and energy, getting assistance from a division of Belgian cavalry.

COST OF BAD GOVERNMENT.

People of United States Are Paying About Three Billion Dollars a Year for Indifferent Administration

[Saturday Evening Post:] We bother tremendously about freight rates, haggling for months over a 5 per cent. advance, with our official representatives in a cold sweat lest somebody accuse them of allowing the railroads a little too much; but the total freight bill is far less than the total cost of government in this country, and over the huge admitted waste in that field nobody seems particularly worried.

We must by now be paying $3,000,000,000 a year to get ourselves indifferently governed. From 1902 to 1909 the expenses of 147 cities, for which the census Bureau has comparative data, increased over 50 per cent., while their outlays for improvements doubled. As an exaggerated instance of the way in which government expenditures are rising, take the Postoffice Department, which for the first time spent $150,000,000 in 1904, and will spend $300,000,000 this year.

It is not that the undertakings which cause government expenditures to mount are unwarranted, but that as expenditures increase for justifiable objects the waste increases proportionately. To get a dollar beneficially spent we must throw away 15 or 20 cents; and as government expenditures constantly rise the waste becomes a great burden.

For example, after rather cursory investigation a committee of the Illinois Legislature reports that the executive government of that State comprises 100 departments, bureaus and offices, most of which are working in cheerful independence of every other department, bureau or office; that, in consequence, "a condition of disorganization and confusion exists. Unnecessary duplication of positions and salaries is a considerable item, but that is the smallest part of the loss. The work undertaken is not well done and costs more than it would with an efficient organization. Supplies are purchased in small quantities for each office or institution that could be secured at lower prices if purchased in large quantities." Different bureaus pay different prices for the same article, and so on.

There is no private business in the United States that needs investigating and regulating so much as the business of the government. In due time there will be a reaction against this government waste.

INDIA'S INDUSTRIAL GROWTH.

During a Half-Century the Trade Figures Have More Than Quadrupled in Size.

[World's Work:] India's trade has increased during the last half-century from $200,000,000 to more than $1,400,000,000. It has in operation 32,000 miles of railroad, which places India fourth in the world in its mileage, carrying 320,000,000 passengers yearly at the rate of five miles for 1 cent. It maintains 76,000 miles of telegraph line, over which messages can be sent for more than 2000 miles at a cost of only 12 cents.

India is now the largest exporter of rice in the world, holds first place in its exports of tea, next to Argentina is the largest exporter of hides, and next to the United States is the largest exporter of cotton in the world. Next to the United States and Russia it is the largest wheat-producing country. The Tata iron works in Bengal, employing 3000 men, have laid down iron in San Francisco at less than the price charged by the United States Steel Corporation.

Indian's system of irrigation stands easily first in the world, being far more extensive than that of Egypt or America. Its more than 46,000 miles of irrigation canals have reclaimed more than 22,000,000 acres of land, and famine has been prevented forever in some districts.

POISONED BY THE GRIP

The grip is no respecter of persons. No age or station of life is exempt from it. The grip is not a fatal disease, but it leaves it victim in such a debilitated condition that one of our foremost medical writers has been led to say, "It is astonishing the number of people who have been crippled in health for years after an attack." It is a common thing to hear people date various ailments from an attack of influenza.

The condition of those who have had the grip is one that calls for a tonic for the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially adapted to meet this need as they purify and enrich the blood, tone up the nerves and give vigor, strength and health to the debilitated system.

"The grip left me without any vitality whatever," says one who has found relief, "and I lost all appetite and ambition. I was reduced in weight and was frequently confined to bed for two days or more. My friends thought I was going into consumption. I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and cheerfully recommend them." Optimist.

SAYS COMMERCE WILL NOT STOP.

Redfield Sees No Cause for Anxiety in the War.

Declares Nations Must Live, Therefore Must Trade.

Country Must Utilize Other Sources of Revenue.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Secretary Redfield, declaring himself an optimist, said yesterday no one could tell what the government's loss of revenue from the European war might be, and that the country could turn to other markets and sources of supply.

"There is nothing in our situation that should cause anxiety, much less excitement," said the Secretary.

"The foreign commerce of the country is not going to stop and no prophecies of continued future loss of revenue have any sound basis in present fact. Nobody can foresee the degree to which, if at all, or the length of time, during which purchases of supplies from abroad will be either prohibited or hampered.

"The forces of commerce are greater than those of war. Nations must live and by the action of living must do business one with another."

Picking Up.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR EXPORTS.

BETTER PROSPECTS REPORTED IN EASTERN MARKETS.

Indications Now Good in the East that More Vessels Will Soon Be Flying the American Flag—Stringent Money Markets Decrease Demand for Manufactures Somewhat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—War in Europe deranged business in the steel trade this week. Domestic industry was depressed and foreign commerce paralyzed, temporarily.

Some improvement in the outlook for export, however, came at the end of the week, with a reorganized exchange market, and the prospect that more merchant vessels will fly the American flag.

The steady output of steel ingots is threatened by an inadequate supply of ferro-alloys, more especially to ferro-manganese, for which this country is largely dependent upon Europe. This fact, together with the suspension of imports of steel products, caused another advance of $1 per ton in prices of steel bars, plates and shapes, and 50 cents per ton in semi-finished lines.

Stringent money markets caused a decrease in demand from domestic manufacturers except on the Pacific Coast, where the foreign source of supply is cut off, causing more orders to come to home mills at higher prices. The sharp and enormous advance in the price of pig tin, 36 cents to 68 cents per pound, on account of the sudden decrease in the prospective supply, caused much excitement in the tin plate trade and the output is likely to be curtailed. Prices advancing.

HAGERSTOWN (Md.) Aug. 9.—A cablegram received today by Harry W. Keating, from Rear-Admiral Badger at Vera Cruz, announced that Mr. Keating's brother, Lieutenant-Commander Arthur B. Keating, was missing from the battleship Arkansas, and it was thought he had drowned.

On the second day of the fighting at Vera Cruz last April, Lieutenant-Commander Keating commanded the marines from the battleships Florida and Arkansas. He was commended for signal bravery during the siege. He was 35 years old.

LINER FLEET LEAVES MONTREAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—The fleet of liners held for the past week steamed away late yesterday. The Allan liner Scandinavian sailed for Glasgow, the Canada, Manxman, Tyrolia, Letitia, Alaunia and Monmouth cleared for British Isle ports. None of the vessels got very far, however, for the whole fleet anchored today at Sorel or Three Rivers. Today the Cunarder Alaunia started again from that point. The official reason given for holding up the ships was fog over the river.

The Victorian and the Empress of Britain, which sailed for Liverpool from Quebec at dawn yesterday, were off Fame Point this morning.

Whether the fleet which sailed yesterday will go any further than Quebec was not announced.

All the ships carried a full complement of passengers and enormous cargoes.

CONNAUGHT TO SUPERVISE.

Duke Will Take Personal Charge of Canadian Army Organization in Camp Near Quebec.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Aug. 9.—The Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, will take personal supervision of the organization of the Canadian army division, which is being recommended for service abroad, it was announced tonight.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught next week will leave their home at Rideau Hill, Ottawa, and will go to Valcartier, twenty miles from Quebec, where the Canadian volunteers will be brought from all parts of the country and organized into battalions and regiments. A camp is being prepared for the royal party, which will be made as comfortable as possible.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9.—The attempt of the Missouri Pacific management to get funds in Europe has failed and the road now will inaugurate a policy of retrenchment, according to B. F. Bush, president of the road.

St. Petersburg.

BLAMES AUSTRIA FOR GREAT WAR.

Russian Minister Says She Provoked the Slavs.

Duma Receives His Speech With Much Enthusiasm.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ST. PETERSBURG (Via London) Aug. 9.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Sazonoff, reviewing the European situation in a speech before the Duma, blamed Austria largely for the war. He declared that the national conscience of Russia was clear and that after her great efforts to preserve the peace, her enemies would not succeed in throwing upon Russia the responsibility for the conflagration. The Minister caused a sensation when he declared that it was Austria-Hungary who provoked the intestine war among the Slavs and added:

"But thanks be to God, she will not ruin the work of Slav unification."

Asserting that Austria's internal difficulties led her to have recourse to the sword, M. Sazonoff said that it was impossible for Europe to recognize the will of Germany as obligatory.

If the German Cabinet had so desired, it could have stopped Austria by a single word, but Germany preferred an equivocal policy, he said.

The speech was interrupted many times by extraordinary demonstrations. When reference was made to Belgian bravery and to France and England, the whole house rose and the members, facing the ministers of these countries who occupied seats in the diplomatic gallery, cheered wildly. The Minister of Finance, M. Bark then told the members of the financial resources of the country. Russia, he said, had entered the war with $375,000,000. It was proposed to provide further income by increasing the taxes on wines and tobacco, he said.

The ensuing debate displayed the unanimity of all parties in support of the government. Resolutions expressing confidence in the ministers and extending fraternal greetings to those nations who are supporting Russia, "and the brave Russians who are defending the empire," were adopted. All legislation necessary to provide funds for the war was passed. At the conclusion of the business an imperial ukase, adjoining the Duma until February, was read.

ANGELENOS IN RUSSIA.

Send Word They're Stranded and Matter of Relief Is Put Up to State Department.

Information tending to indicate that American war refugees in Russia are having a disagreeable time was received by John T. Hinch, the well-known sportsman living at No. 21 Ozone avenue, Venice, and efforts are being made to obtain relief through the American State Department.

Among the refugees reported as now at St. Petersburg are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brown of No. 519 Oakhurst drive, Hollywood, who were touring the continent when the war broke out and cut them off from reaching a neutral port, where they might have obtained transportation for the United States.

A letter received from Mr. Brown yesterday by Mr. Hinch informed the latter that there was little hope of getting out of Russia at this time unless provision should be made by the American authorities to take the refugees on a special ship.

A cablegram from the same source stated that while the Americans apparently were in no immediate danger of losing their lives, the situation was becoming acute.

Mr. Hinch has telegraphed funds to the Treasury Department to be delivered to the Hollywood capitalist, as his friends fear that his ample letters of credit may prove unavailable at this time.

A number of other Californians are believed to be traveling in the party with Mr. and Mrs. Brown, but their names are not known.

JAPAN'S ACTIVITY SERIOUS QUESTION.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

PEKING, Aug. 9.—Whether Japan will participate in an attack on the German colony of Tsing-Tao is a question about which British subjects and other foreigners in China are gravely concerned. It is believed here that serious "conversations" are now proceeding between Tokio and London in order to determine the future status of that place.

In the meantime, German cruisers are said to be searching the Yellow Sea and causing British, French and Russian merchant vessels to remain in the various ports.

From Shanghai reports were received today that the British Pacific fleet had passed toward the north, accompanied by two French cruisers.

THE DUTCH HEAR LIEGE HAS FALLEN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM (via London,) Aug. 9.—A semi-official message from Berlin says: "We hold fast. Liege is in our hands. The losses of the enemy were considerable. Our losses will be communicated as soon as reliably known. The transport of 3000 or 4000 Belgian prisoners to Germany has begun already, according to news received here. We were faced at Liege by a quarter of the total Belgian army."

FEARS FOR DAUGHTER.

Fearing for the safety of his daughter who was in Liverpool when last heard from, C. W. Fleming of No. 1242 Oak Grove avenue, Garvanza, has appealed to the officials of the White Star line to locate the present whereabouts of his daughter, Mrs. William H. Dunster, whose husband is an official of that company. He is also a lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve of England and, according to dispatches, was ordered to join his battleship, thus leaving Mrs. Dunster alone in Liverpool. Her parents said yesterday that since the outbreak of hostilities they had received no word from her and so were most anxious to arrange for her return to America.

STEAMERS COLLIDE ON THE HUDSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—In a dense fog in the Hudson River early today, the steamer Iroquois of the Manhattan line crashed into the Berkshire of the Hudson Navigation Company, off Hastings, cutting eighteen feet into the Berkshire's counter and ripping her almost to the water line.

Both boats were carrying passengers from Albany to New York, the Berkshire having nearly 1000 on board. There was a rush for the decks by her passengers in scanty clothing but officers quickly reassured them and there was no panic.

The Iroquois remained fast in the hole she had cut in the Berkshire's side and the two vessels, locked together, drifted down the river to Dobbs Ferry, where other steamers brought them to a dock.

Legal Tangle.

GERMAN JUDGES DISQUALIFIED.

FAMOUS LUXEMBURG CASE MAY NEVER BE TRIED.

Woman Is Charged With Insulting Members of the Prussian Army and as All Able-Bodied Males Must Perform Military Duty the Jurists Are Barred.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—An interesting legal question has been raised in connection with the new famous Rosa Luxemburg case by prominent jurists. If their construction of the law of the case is correct, it will be impossible to bring the woman to trial for the very sufficient reason that judges competent to sit in the case most probably cannot be found. In Germany, as in all other civilized countries, a judge is disqualified from taking part in a trial when he is related to any of the parties within a certain degree. In Germany collateral relationship by consanguinity to the third degree or by affinity to the second degree, even when, in the latter case, the married relation no longer exists, and, of course, all direct degrees of relationship in the ascending or descending line, are disqualifications.

The charge against Rosa Luxemburg is one of insulting all the members of the Prussian army, which includes also former soldiers who, although no longer with the colors, are still liable to military duty. As every able-bodied male German must serve in the army, it is highly improbable that there is any judge in the empire who is not related to some member of the army within the prohibited degree. The jurists who have raised this question point out also the extreme probability that seven competent judges could not be found to make up the quorum required in the Imperial Supreme Court in case of an eventual appeal to that tribunal.

There are a great many people who do not believe that the Luxemburg case will ever be brought up again for trial. Their opinion has been strengthened by the withdrawal of the State Attorney of a prosecution which had been started against one of the editors of the Vorwaerts on account of an article dealing with the abuse of soldiers. This newspaper declares that it is evident that the War Minister does not care to have the question of the ill-treatment of soldiers brought again before a civil court.

AWED BY MONOCLE.

Albanian Soldiers Under Aristocratic Englishman's Command Fight with Great Bravery.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, July 26.—Jack Heaton Armstrong, an aristocratic young Englishman, has just returned from Albania with a story of the awe in which his monocle was held by the unsophisticated soldiers of the Mpret, while he was in command of a field gun used against the rebels.

Armstrong, who is a brother of the private secretary of Prince William, set out from Alessio with Chief Prenk for the relief of the Prince, then besieged in his capital. Prenk had 2000 men and one field gun. Armstrong commanded the gun. No matter how hot the fire, the soldiers never deserted the gun, which was aimed and fired by the monocled Englishman. As they had never seen a monocle before, they thought it essential to aiming, or a kind of range finder. Armstrong did not dispel their illusion.

SPA FOR WORKING MEN.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, July 26.—One of Germany's famous medicinal spas, Sodenthal, near Aschaffenburg, Bavaria, will henceforth be barred to rich people. It has been bought and will be reserved for workingmen. The purchase has been made by the Imperial Insurance Department, from state funds and the spa will be reserved entirely for working men and women insured by the state and sent to Sodenthal for treatment by their insurance fund office, upon the official physician's certificates. Hotels, baths and all other things connected with the resort are now the property of the state.

PLANT FOR VICTORVILLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Aug. 9.—Victorville, Cal., is to have a duplicate of the big Southwestern Portland Cement plant, which was erected here by Carl Leonardt and his Los Angeles associates. This announcement was given out at the general office of the cement company yesterday. The plant will have a capacity of 2,000,000 sacks of cement annually and will be almost a duplicate of the big plant here.

The organization of the new holding company has control of the new Victorville plant. The plant will be constructed after improved ideas obtained by Mr. Leonardt while making an inspection of cement plants abroad, the officials here say. The new plant will have no connection with the El Paso plant, but will be controlled by the same capitalists. The cement company here has made much money from its product, for which it has a practical monopoly in the Southwest because of quality and price.

There are a great many people who do not believe that the Luxemburg case will ever be brought up again for trial. Their opinion has been strengthened by the withdrawal of the State Attorney of a prosecution which had been started against one of the editors of the Vorwaerts on account of an article dealing with the abuse of soldiers. This newspaper declares that it is evident that the War Minister does not care to have the question of the ill-treatment of soldiers brought again before a civil court.

AWED BY MONOCLE.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, July 26.—Jack Heaton Armstrong, an aristocratic young Englishman, has just returned from Albania with a story of the awe in which his monocle was held by the unsophisticated soldiers of the Mpret, while he was in command of a field gun used against the rebels.

Armstrong, who is a brother of the private secretary of Prince William, set out from Alessio with Chief Prenk for the relief of the Prince, then besieged in his capital. Prenk had 2000 men and one field gun. Armstrong commanded the gun. No matter how hot the fire, the soldiers never deserted the gun, which was aimed and fired by the monocled Englishman. As they had never seen a monocle before, they thought it essential to aiming, or a kind of range finder. Armstrong did not dispel their illusion.

SPA FOR WORKING MEN.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, July 26.—One of Germany's famous medicinal spas, Sodenthal, near Aschaffenburg, Bavaria, will henceforth be barred to rich people. It has been bought and will be reserved for workingmen. The purchase has been made by the Imperial Insurance Department, from state funds and the spa will be reserved entirely for working men and women insured by the state and sent to Sodenthal for treatment by their insurance fund office, upon the official physician's certificates. Hotels, baths and all other things connected with the resort are now the property of the state.

PLANT FOR VICTORVILLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Aug. 9.—Victorville, Cal., is to have a duplicate of the big Southwestern Portland Cement plant, which was erected here by Carl Leonardt and his Los Angeles associates. This announcement was given out at the general office of the cement company yesterday. The plant will have a capacity of 2,000,000 sacks of cement annually and will be almost a duplicate of the big plant here.

The organization of the new holding company has control of the new Victorville plant. The plant will be constructed after improved ideas obtained by Mr. Leonardt while making an inspection of cement plants abroad, the officials here say. The new plant will have no connection with the El Paso plant, but will be controlled by the same capitalists. The cement company here has made much money from its product, for which it has a practical monopoly in the Southwest because of quality and price.

A. L. Dennis, being duly sworn, declares that he is and has been for twelve years Superintendent of circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above detailed statement of circulation for the month of July, 1914, is correct, and shows the circulation of The Times for each day of the month named.

A. L. DENNIS,
Superintendent of Circulation. The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 3d day of August, 1914.
[Seal.] T. L. CHAPIN,

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issue. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or inflate its circulation by spreading more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other local newspaper.

HARBOR ITEMS.

The big lumber steamer John A. Hooper arrived today from Gray's Harbor with over 2,000,000 feet from the Builders & Contractors mill and will be distributed to various wholesalers. Since Building & Christmas began using barges to work both sides of the slip at the same time, the discharge of the Hooper had been greatly facilitated.

The standard oil tanker Asuncion arrived today from El Segundo with a cargo of fuel oil. She will return tomorrow to load for Hongkong.

Both the steamers of the Pacific Navigation Company carried big lists of passengers today. The Harvard arrived from San Francisco and will remain in port until Tuesday afternoon. The Yale arrived from San Diego and proceeded to San Francisco. On her next trip she will sail one day ahead of schedule in order to go into drydock at San Francisco for cleaning and painting. Another big steamer included in the movements today was the Pacific Coast Liner Congress, which proceeded to San Diego and will return tomorrow, north bound.

NORTHERN SHIPPING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Arrived: Steamers San Jacinto, Coos Bay, Ventura; Tillamook (from Astoria), Olsen, Landing, Port San Luis; Santa Clara, San Pedro; Nebalem, San Diego.

Sailed: Steamers Roanoke, Arcline, Los Angeles; Yosemite, James S. Higgins, San Pedro; Washtenaw, Santa Maria, Port San Luis.

President Charles C. Moore of Panama-Pacific Exposition Says War Will Not Seriously Affect It.

SANTA CRUZ, Aug. 9.—Charles C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, said last night at his summer home near here that he had nothing to add to his previous statement that the war would not interfere seriously with the exposition.

In an announcement made several days ago, Mr. Moore explained that, while a war starting six months back might have imperiled the conduct of the exposition, it is now too far advanced to suffer materially.

PRESIDENT'S SISTER LEAVING.

Mrs. Wilson Howe Quits French Capital by Auto for Havre to Embark for New York.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BOGOTA (Colombia) Aug. 9.—Dr. Jose Vicente Concha, who was at one time Minister at Washington, was inaugurated President of Colombia yesterday. Vice-President Marco Fidel Suarez was sworn in as Secretary of State. The President's message dealt only with internal affairs.

DIES AT THE BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OCEAN PARK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Helen J. Barker, 73 years old, died at 1:30 this morning at No. 411½ Ocean Front. She had been sick for a short time, and her son, B. F. Barker, had just arrived last night from the home at Annawan, Ill. She leaves besides the son, a daughter, Mrs. Sadie B. Wride, of No. 1002 East Adams street, Los Angeles. The body is at the Kirkelie undertaking parlors, where it will remain until Tuesday morning when it will be sent to the Illinois home for burial.

Revolution.

STILL INSIST ON AMNESTY.

Question of Mexico City's Surrender Is Debated.

Expect Proclamation Today by Minister of War.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—The Cabinet was in session two hours today considering the local situation as affected by the revolution. Upon adjournment President Carbajal received Robles Dominguez, a representative of Gen. Carranza, and Felipe Contreras, representing Gen. Zapata. Several members of the diplomatic corps also called on the President during the day.

Senor Santibanes, the Presidential secretary, did not give out the results of these conferences, but prominent members of the diplomatic corps said the situation was much better tonight than heretofore. It was stated, it is practically assured, that if the transfer of government occasions a battle it will not be fought in the city, and the probabilities of a peaceful transfer are very strong.

"The army would evacuate Mexico City tomorrow," said one of the diplomatic corps, "turn over the protective work to the force of 5000 gendarmes now stationed here, were it not for the presence of Zapatistas on the outskirts. The Federal army feels that their evacuation and unconditional surrender would turn over the city to Zapata and not to Carranza. That is now the only hitch in the way of a peaceful transfer, and I believe the problem will be solved within the next sixty hours. Army officers are taking a much more reasonable view of the situation today."

Minister of War Velasco will issue a proclamation tomorrow saying that the Federal army will evacuate the capital as soon as guarantees of amnesty for the Federals and inhabitants of the city are given by Gen. Carranza. The Federal troops will then retire to some nearby point to await the orders of the new government.

Felipe Contreras, a delegate from the headquarters of Gen. Zapata, has arranged an armistice between Zapata and President Carbajal. In the meantime the government will be under protection of the 5000 gendarmes now stationed here.

FIGHT CONTINUES ABOUT MAZATLAN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ON BOARD U.S.S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN (Mex.) Aug. 8.—(Via San Diego (Cal.) by wireless, Aug. 9.) Fighting continues with heavy losses on both sides. Wounded Constitutionalists are being cared for in cars along the Southern Pacific tracks, medical assistance being rendered from U.S.S. California. Many bodies of soldiers are floating in the harbor. The first of the Federal transports leaves Mazatlan tonight loaded with troops bound for Manzanillo. Gen. Iturbe has extended an invitation to Admiral Howard to have one officer accompany him when he enters Mazatlan to verify the absence of looting, showing perfect control.

CUT WORKING FORCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Aug. 9.—An additional cut of 25 per cent. in the working force of the Copper Queen and Calumet and Arizona smelters was announced yesterday. Both establishments will now run on half their normal basis. The first cut was made several days ago.

The El Paso and Southwestern Railroad also announced a reduction of 25 per cent. in its force. Four hundred employees are affected.

CUNARD LINER SAILS.

Steamer Franconia Leaves Boston for Europe With Small Cargo and no Convoy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Cunard liner Franconia sailed last night for Liverpool. More than 400 of the 655 passengers who had been booked, cancelled their reservations, and the steamer carried a smaller cargo than usual.

Capt. D. S. Miller said that so far as he knew, no convoy had been provided. The Franconia was due to leave last Thursday, but was ordered to remain at her dock pending developments in the war situation.

EX-TEACHER CUTS THROAT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, Aug. 9.—Temporarily unbalanced, as the result of a nervous breakdown, Miss Myrtle Reid, formerly a teacher in Los Angeles public schools, slashed her throat with a razor at the residence of Judge R. A. Crossman at Pueblo, Colo. She narrowly missed the jugular vein.

The young woman was discovered lying upon the floor of her room in a pool of blood by members of the family. Physicians after treating Miss Reid advised her removal to a private sanatorium. It was said at the sanatorium tonight that she has a chance to recover.

Mississippi Bank Closed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WEST (Miss.) Aug. 9.—The West Banking and Trust Company here closed its doors yesterday by orders of a representative of State Bank Examiner. T. Q. Ellis, cashier of the bank, surrendered to officers who said he admitted he was short in his accounts. The bank had resources aggregating $60,000.

Panama Police Chief Dismissed.

PANAMA, Aug. 9.—Leonidas Pretelt, Chief of Police of Panama, has been dismissed by President Porras. Pretelt was offered the postmastership of Panama, which he declined. His successor is Rodolfo Estripeau, one of the President's aides.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Ad Club Luncheon.

The officers and directors of the Los Angeles Ad Club gave a luncheon Friday in honor of Samuel C. Dobbs, former president of the National Organization of Advertising Men. Those present, in addition to Mr. Dobbs, were H. L. Stilwell, F. J. Wadley, P. C. Miller, C. H. Mann, George H. Reed, J. F. Wilson, S. Wood, A. C. Smith, A. H. Wilkins, W. G. Adams, T. J. Jarvis, Robert Armstrong, O. W. Leonard, H. E. Millar, B. O. Blixen, S. W. Botsford and H. S. Carroll.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Lovers of Whom Innocent Girls Should Beware.

"Is there in human form that bears a heart
A wretch, a villain, lost to love and truth,
That can, with studied, sly, ensnaring art,
Betray a maiden's unsuspecting youth?
Curse on his perjured arts! dissembling smooth!
Are honor, virtue, conscience, all exiled?
Is there no pity, no relenting ruth?"

What is more beautiful than the white, unsullied page of a young girl's heart? To be her friend is an honor, to be her lover is one of the most sacred privileges the gods can bestow. The fact that he has become nearer and dearer than a friend is proof that he has gained her confidence, her trust and is the custodian of her hopes. Men of honor realize the responsibility. The fate of the girl is safe under their protection.

There is another kind of man who has one set of morals for his sisters and his own women kinfolks and quite another for the innocent girl who has given him her affection. If she be young and confiding, yielding to his caress for love of him, he is bound soon to weary of her artlessness, and longs to make conquest of a heart harder to win. His motto is, "If a girl kisses a young man good night at his careless, bantering request, how can she expect to gain his respect? She must show a man that she respects herself if she expects others to."

If he finds she is weak of judgment, as well as foolish of heart, the proposal of marriage which he intended to make died from his lips in a sarcastic laugh at the rashness of girls and their folly in deliberately throwing away a chance of marrying.

There are men who court for the mere pleasure of seeing a girl's eye brighten at their approach—to note that their compliments bring blushes to her cheeks, and that they can linger as long by her side as they will—then ride away without bond or fetter in the way of a betrothal. Such a man gives no afterthought to her grief, her bright hopes that are broken, lying in ruins about her. Many a sweet young girl can attract a man, but it takes the maiden who knows how to refuse to receive a caress, if they are not betrothed, to receive from him at the altar the wedding ring which will bind him to her for all time to come.

Bright, happy, sensible girls hold the sentiment in their natures well under control. They are sympathetic, cordial in manner and covertly give a man to understand that his society is agreeable to them without overstepping maiden modesty. These are the young women who can be trusted anywhere, at any time, to make a too-bold wooer know his place. A man may dub them prudes but it is the girl of this kind a man wants for a wife. There are girls who need a watchful eye over them. There are other wise girls who are abundantly able to take care of themselves.

The man who professes love, but says nothing of marriage is a lover of whom it would be well for innocent maids to beware.

MISS LIBBEY'S REPLIES TO YOUR LETTERS.

Address No. 916 President street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Correct name and address must be given to insure attention, not to print.

Should a Mother Select Her Future Son-in-Law?

Dear Miss Libbey: I love a young man dearly, but mother objects to him, wishing me to wed a man of her choice. The one I love wishes me to elope with him. Should a mother pick a husband for her daughter, anyhow? If I married mother's choice do you think I could ever love him? Please advise. NELLIE D.

You could have no better adviser than your mother, who is for your interest first, last and all the time. Girls who elope usually rue it. To marry without love is a grave mistake. Sorrow and not happiness generally results from it.

He Would Tarry—But Not Marry.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am 17 years old, a good pianist and considered good looking. I am keeping company with a young man 5 years my senior. He seems to care for me, but is very cold. He does not like me to go to parties or roller skating, as I come in contact with others. We have had the date set for our marriage three times, but he has always found some excuse to break it—the last time within five days of our marriage. So you see I am always kept downhearted. What ought I to do? MARGARET.

Drastic measures are necessary to discover whether the young man really intends marriage, or is simply wasting your time. Have an earnest talk with him—telling him that you have concluded that it is wisest and best for him to discontinue his calls until he is ready to marry, be that five weeks, months or years. And keep to what you say. If the young man really loves you, he will hustle to get out the marriage license to prove his devotion.

Parted on Their Honeymoon.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am a bride of a few months. My husband left me two weeks ago without a word, during a fit of anger. We cannot agree on scarcely any subject. While angry he abuses me. He is easily vexed. His people know his whereabouts, but do not want me to know. Shall I seek him or let him go, though it is breaking my heart. H.

There are cases where advice from a stranger who knows little of the facts on both sides could not conscientiously be followed. The responsibility is great. From what you write me, I should advise you to allow your husband plenty of time away from you—to cool his temper. When he has the opportunity of weighing well the difficulty, how it came about and how trifling it really is, he will return to you—a contrite husband. Be careful not to give him cause for anger in future, if it can possibly be avoided. It takes two to quarrel, you know.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

"PEACE MEETING" FAKE.

Socialists Who Gather Crowd to Hear Anti-War Protests Disgust Them With Self-Exploitation.

A street meeting held last evening at the corner of Eighth and Broadway, which had been advertised as an "anti-war protest" gathering, turned out to be a subterfuge for a Socialist political gathering. Several hundred men and women, many of whom were not Socialists, who gathered to hear peace discussed, were disappointed when the speakers gave most of their time to lauding their qualities as office holders, and a collection was taken for the Socialist party campaign fund.

Circulars had been distributed inviting Socialists and "other lovers of peace" to assemble at the corner to protest against the European wars now in progress. J. E. Snyder, city organizer for the Socialist party, was chairman of the meeting. The principal speakers were Arnold R. Holston, Socialist candidate for District Attorney, and H. A. Hart, Socialist candidate for Congressman from the Ninth District.

Most of the speaking was done by Holston, who devoted more than an hour to an exploitation of the virtues of himself and the other candidates on the Socialist ticket. Many persons who had expected to take part in a protest against war were disgusted when politicians and demagogues monopolized the time to talk Socialist propaganda and left before the meeting was over.

PERSONALS.

C. M. Belshaw of Antioch, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, arrived in the city yesterday to give personal attention to his campaign in this locality. He registered at the Clark, where he has campaign headquarters.

Richard O'Neill, Jr., one of the owners of a $7,000,000 ranch in San Diego county, is a guest at the Clark. He believes that if the proposed eight-hour law is passed it will be a serious handicap to the ranch owners of the State.

The arrivals at the Angelus yesterday included the following: M. B. Flexner, Jr., member of a glove manufacturing firm of Wilwaukee, one of the largest of its kind in the United States; Simon Wile, general manager of the Wile Soap Manufacturing Company of Cincinnati, which makes a specialty of toilet soap for the hotel trade, and Frank C. Chapin, real estate dealer and bond broker of San Jose.

Just as Effective.

NOT AN ARROW, BUT A BULLET.

WOMAN SHOOTS MAN; THEN TELLS OF ENGAGEMENT.

Fooling With Old War Relics, Nurse Empties One She Didn't Know Was Loaded Into Her Friend's Back—Wedding Bells Will Ring Soon as He's About Again.

Orla M. Allen, a nurse, shot Clarence E. Morris, 33 years old, of Long Beach, yesterday morning in her apartments at No. 512 West Second street. The bullet served as a substitute for a Cupid's dart. It did not lodge in Mr. Morris's heart, fortunately, but it led to the announcement of their engagement. The wedding will take place when Mr. Morris recovers. In the meantime, Mrs. Allen, in her neat blue uniform, is his devoted nurse.

Both persons declare the shooting was purely accidental and the police have accepted that view of it. This is the story the two relate:

Before the death of Mrs. Allen's husband, several years ago, the Allen and Morris families were on terms of friendly intimacy. They lived in Long Beach, where Mr. Morris now lives at the Yale Hotel. Saturday night he visited the Allen house in this city and spent the night under its roof. Yesterday morning, after Mrs. Allen's three children, the eldest of whom is 9, had been dressed and prinked for Sunday-school and had left, Mrs. Allen showed Mr. Morris a box of revolvers which had arrived but the day before by express from the East. Her husband's father had been a Civil War soldier and Mr. Allen had collected a great number and variety of small arms. These had been taken by a friend of Mrs. Allen to an eastern city and had been returned only after many demands.

"They didn't care so much about 'safety first' in those days," said Mr. Morris, handling a tarnished old army pistol.

"Why, this one has a safety slide," answered Mrs. Allen, and she handed it over to her guest. Mr. Morris examined it and the woman picked another revolver, a small one, out of the heap.

"Here's one that hasn't got a safety," she announced, at the same time pulling the trigger. There was a flash and a roar.

"You've shot me!" the man exclaimed. He had been turned to the light and the bullet entered his back an inch to the right of the spine and above the pelvic bone. Mrs. Allen said she did not know the revolver was loaded. She called the Receiving Hospital by 'phone.

The police surgeons found no evidence that the bullet had penetrated or lodged in any vital organ. Mr. Morris is not in serious condition and may soon be able to leave the hospital, at which time, Mrs. Allen says, wedding bells will ring for them.

BAD DAY FOR HANDS.

Injuries to Extremities and Other Minor Hurts Make Work for Receiving Hospital Staff.

Surgeons at the Receiving Hospital were kept busy yesterday attending to a large number of minor injuries caused by accidents. Singularly a good percentage of the cases were for injured hands and digits.

George Bustillos, 29 years old, a city patrolman, living at No. 743 West First street, was enjoying a day off motoring in his own machine. Like Mr. Helmkamp, he was injured in cranking. He broke the little finger of his right hand.

While tinkering with an electric fan, F. C. Newell, 27, who lives at No. 1135 Santee street, inadvertently got his hand within the three-mile limit and sustained a severe cut.

J. J. Fox, a rancher of Sierra Madre, went to the hospital to have a broken jaw mended. He said he had been held-up at Fourth and Wall streets early in the morning and had been beaten by the bandits.

George Chidgey, also a ranchman, who lives at Rivera, Cal., became involved in a fight at the Plaza and was kicked by an unknown man so severely that medical treatment was necessary.

Oh, Come On!

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8, 1914.—To the Editor of The Times:] I have noticed moving pictures have been criticised (the past eight or ten days) and have taken much interest in reading them, to discover the reason of the criticism. Is it because of the British failures in the present war and tragedy. The writer has noticed the fact that we are not required to show ourselves in the pictures, but that our language in the scenes is used entirely without expression. Is this language is a sort of entertainment so to speak, as to compel the use of beautiful gesturful and expressive gestures of the hands? Hence it is tremendously hard work for either England or France to encourage the continuance of their plays from a financial standpoint. (Newspapers take notice.)

Many of our lady friends are very pretty, sweet-voiced and perfected themselves to the conventional affected manner of gracefully jump up and down and clap their hands to express themselves when it comes to the climax of the passion and gesture, the same as the leading actors are a doctor's bill. We might as well attempt to speak Spanish or French opera in English as to adjust ourselves to the moving picture business. It is not natural for us Americans to be so affected. It is refinedly nice at the present time to do; it isn't a part of our nature. Let the English-speaking people continue to be a dignified people and the moving picture drama will continue to be a dignified success.

We have not the present actual nor the true conception of art and expressiveness as to what our neighbor has, so when it comes to foisting the "theatering" before an intellectual public people laugh! If we were to fill with our silly love plays, our other "dramas" and our other ridiculous stunts which take no consideration of form, then we may consider ourselves the children and grandchildren of not what talent is, but we have made our "theatering" and our intellectual public. For our English and American motion pictures are Latin talent, but also our own, for nearly every instance are refined and unlimited "Eye," Nick Carter 14-cent [illegible]

To El Segundo.
THREE THOUSAND FEAST IN HONOR OF NEW LI
RESPLENDENT with gay banners, the infant city of El Segundo yesterday celebrated the opening of the new Pacific Electric cut-off line from Hawthorne with a barbecue to which 3000 people did ample justice.
Although young in years, El Segundo is lusty of growth and the celebration yesterday was of the sweeping away of the last obstacle to rapid development. The new railway cut-off joins El Segundo directly with Los Angeles, giving it a half-hour service for the run, which takes just an hour's time.
The barbecue yesterday was in charge of Chef Romero and the menu served included 1000 pounds of barbecued meat, Mexican beans, a delicious salad, bread and butter, lemonade and coffee.
Donald G. Fraser, for the El Segundo Land and Water Company, gave the visitors a glowing of the progress of the new cording to Mr. Fraser, it only been in existence for it has a population of thirty business buildings and five-apartment-houses electric depot is under be a very attractive building, with 144 completed. Will Not Give Up World's Largest Opal.

Count and Countess Morojeski.

IN TRAIL OF HOODOO GEM.

Life History of Misfortune of the Owner of Great Fire Opal.

Following are some of the main points in the stormy life-history of Countess Morojeski, owner of the great fire opal:

Family almost beggared by the Civil War.

Married Frank Higbee, rich New Englander, in 1880. He was later killed under mysterious circumstances in New York. A son subsequently died.

Married Col. L. P. Crane, a millionaire, in 1885. He lost his fortune in the panic of 1893. The couple suffered many misfortunes and privations in Lower California and were subsequently divorced.

Wandered for years over the West Coast from Mexico to Alaska. Was robbed on the Dawson trail and figured as a witness in sensational criminal trials in the Far North.

Married Victor Morojeski at Dawson because of the latter's claim to the opal. After many troubles, domestic and otherwise, they returned to Arizona, where he was reduced to the position of a caretaker.

Morojeski arrested and wife went to hospital as result of violent culmination to many quarrels. She made a felony charge against him and followed it with a divorce action. The Count worked out his alimony as a miner.

The former owner of the opal, a man named Meiklejohn, told her of three killings and many misfortunes in connection with the gem.

Unafraid.

CLINGS TO RED FIRES OF FATE.

Countess Morojeski Brings Famous Opal Here.

Gigantic Gem With Sinister and Bloody History.

Divorce Ends With Russian Working Out Alimony.

Come what may—unhappiness, misfortune and even death—the Countess Alice Morojeski will continue to wear her famous ill-luck stone, a rare Hungarian fire opal, called the cause of much of her woe and said to have been responsible for at least three deaths and other tragedies in the past.

One of the many misfortunes which the mystery jewel is asserted to have inflicted on its owner was the Count Victor Morojeski, relative of the Czar and noted for his close resemblance to the monarch. Only recently did the writer, student, traveler and business woman succeed in freeing herself from the man who, she says, brought her unhappiness and both mental and physical suffering. He has just finished working out his alimony in her mines.

Jewelers in New York, London and Paris have told the Countess, she says, that the opal which she is wearing in defiance of fate is the largest and most valuable stone of its kind known in the history of the world, with the exception of a gem owned by the late Emperor Nero of Rome.

STRANGE STORY.

Yesterday at the Hollenbeck, where she arrived from Phoenix, Countess Morojeski, while the sullen fire of the opal gleamed at her throat, talked of her romantic and adventurous life—her three unhappy marriages, her travels in Alaska, India and the uttermost parts of the world; her distinguished friends, her gold mines, the future, and how she acquired the opal.

A wandering Englishman from Australia pawned the stone with her many years ago in Dawson City. He told her its history, which includes a number of killings and other dark events, and in a few weeks disappeared.

Later, while she was sledding in Northern Alaska, she was robbed of $1500 in nuggets and $1500 in currency by a villian who confronted her on the ice. She hurried to the nearest cabin for assistance and there met a Russian "with a black beard and the eyes of a wolf."

The opal, which had been overlooked by the robber, at once attracted the gaze of the Russian, who turned out to be Count Morojeski. The nobleman at once claimed the stone, declaring that it had belonged to his mother and had been stolen from him in Australia.

"He followed me 4000 miles in Alaska to get the stone, and finally I married him in 1903 in Dawson," the Countess said yesterday. "It turned out that he had no property but a terrible disposition. Sometimes his voice was as tender as a nun's at a death bed, and then he could snap and snarl like a Russian wolf.

"It cost me $75,000 in cash and much more in agony to get rid of him. Now that I am free from matrimonial tangle I am beginning life over again. It seems like a different world.

WORKS OUT ALIMONY.

"I sued for alimony when I asked for divorce. He had nothing and in lieu of money the court sentenced him to do $100 worth of work on each of my twenty-four gold mines in Arizona. He has just made a final report to the court on this work and now I am done with him forever.

"My features are not quite back to normal yet. The Count jammed my face into a mud bank in an effort to disfigure me so no one would marry me (as if I should ever think of marrying again.")

The Countess's gold mines were located for her by an Apache Indian. In return for this favor she paid his living expenses for twenty-three years. The old warrior died last December, after having, she says, disclosed to the Countess subterranean passages in the Indian stronghold in the southern part of Arizona, which had been sought in vain for years by agents of the United States government. The Countess lived with the Apaches for two years and made a scientific study of their tribal habits.

David Eros Versus Goliath Mars.

Miss Helyn Osborne Henry,

Daughter of Rev. J. Q. A. Henry and herself noted as a clubwoman and lecturer, who will sail for war-stricken Europe next Friday to be married to a brilliant young Scotch divine.

Undaunted.

GIRL WILL BRAVE WAR TERRORS TO WED ABROAD.

WAR-RIDDEN Europe has no terrors for one Los Angeles girl, who instead of trying to get away, is making every possible effort to reach there, and will be one of the very few women passengers aboard the New York when that American steamer sails for Liverpool next Friday. The girl is Miss Helyn Osborne Henry, daughter of Rev. J. Q. A. Henry, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, and the impelling motive is—just what it usually is in cases of this character—love.

The cause for the hurry is marriage before the end of September to the Rev. Robert McGowan, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Leven, Scotland. And herewith many of her friends have a solution to what they thought for a time were strange actions on her part.

Miss Henry was elected secretary of the Dickens' Fellowship Club in 1913. She was one of the promoters of the Drama League, interested in a number of other organizations, and last winter started a series of travel lectures before the Highland Park Ebell Club, describing in these the scenes she had seen in Europe, where in 1906, while with her father, she had met Rev. McGowan at the home of friends in Scotland. She also was to speak on Australia, the South Sea Islands, Japan and other countries, but one day announced that she was leaving immediately for the East, ostensibly to become traveling secretary for the National Woman's Baptist Home Missionary Society.

She did take this position, which gave her the northeastern territory of the United States to cover and placed her headquarters in Chicago. What she really went for, as some of her friends found out in the past day or two, was to be near the Rev. Robert McGowan, himself a brilliant young divine, who had received a call to come to Philadelphia to occupy a pulpit. That was last March. During his short stay, he received three other American offers, the one paying the highest salary being in the Quaker City, where $3600 was stipulated as a yearly inducement for remaining.

At home, his old parishioners, who had been giving him $2000, heard of this and immediately cabled him announcement that his wage had been doubled, and to return at once. Be-

PARIAH FOR TEN YEARS; HE SUES.

Engineer Made an Outcast by Alleged Libelous Letter.

Says Friends Won't Speak to Him, Fearing Union.

Asks Heavy Damages from American Brotherhood.

A. P. Monroe, a locomotive engineer, is suing in the courts so his friends on the road can come up to him and say: "Hello, there, Monroe, how's everything?" For ten years he has been a social pariah, denied the pleasures of friendship with his fellows, according to his complaint filed in the Superior Court.

Through the courts, he is seeking to be restored to the friendship of the people he knows and likes. He has been made a sort of outcast, he declares, by the persecution of the labor union to which he and all the men in his work belonged. For ten years, he says, he has suffered all the insults that the minds of a few enemies could instigate. Because they were members of the Needles Division No. 383, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, they gave forth the word that no other members of the union should be friendly with Monroe, he alleges in his complaint.

His suit asks damages aggregating $50,375 from S. T. Clark, secretary; T. A. Cole, chief engineer, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The damages are asked for libel, concretely expressed in a letter dated July 23, 1913, which appears to have been written by Clark. In this letter, a copy of which is filed with the complaint, Monroe is accused of having run away with the wife of another engineer.

"This letter," said Monroe yesterday, "is the first expression on paper that I have ever found of the most vicious boycott that a man ever contended with. Because I incurred the enmity of certain officers of the union more than ten years ago, this slander was spread about.

"Then began a series of affronts and petty persecutions that have made life unbearable. I married, many years ago, but so terrible is the power of these men that the other railroad boys do not dare associate with me for fear of incurring a similar displeasure. Mrs. Monroe and I are not invited to the homes of any of

MOTORS CRASH HEAD ON; THREE HURT, ONE DYING.

RETURNING from an early morning rabbit hunt, yesterday, F. J. Easter and Harvey Evans, on a motorcycle driven by the former, dashed into an automobile coming in the opposite direction and driven by William Groman of Santa Paula. The accident occurred on the boulevard near Burbank and all three were seriously hurt. Easter suffered a fracture of the skull the doctors fear will prove fatal; Evans had his right leg broken and suffered other injuries and Groman received a fracture of the left arm.

The automobile and the motorcycle both tried to pass another machine on the road at the same time. The result was a head-on collision which overturned the Groman machine, pinioning him beneath the car. The motorcycle was totally wrecked. The victims of the accident were rushed to the Burbank Hospital, where they were treated by Dr. E. H. Thompson. Later in the day the young men were brought to Los Angeles, while Groman was taken to Santa Paula.

According to the story of the parents of the young men, who reside at No. 2506 and No. 2526 Wabash avenue, respectively, Easter is 19 years of age and a painter, and Evans, of the same age, is employed as a gardener in the park department. They decided to go on a rabbit hunt and left home at 12 o'clock on Saturday night in order to be in the country with the rise of the sun. They were returning from the neighborhood of Roscoe and said that no one can be blamed for the accident itself. They did not see Groman approaching, nor he they, on account of the intervening machine.

ARKANSANS TO PICNIC.

An Arkansas basket picnic will be held at Sycamore Grove Thursday. There will be a programme of speaking and a general good time. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the badge.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

There are telegrams at the Western Union for Meole Berardino, Mrs. F. L. Davis, Frank Davies, Mrs. Fannie L. Hall, Dr. L. F. Lockie, A. de la Huerta, Horace P. Merrill, M. Morrell, Mrs. W. C. Miles, Robert Orsot, George R. Shriner and E. H. Shaw.

HORSESHOE IS DOUBLE-FACED

Hunter's Mascot Falls and Catches Trigger; He's Badly Wounded.

A "good luck" horseshoe that A. L. Brecht of No. 7304 Roseberry avenue carried with him on a rabbit hunt yesterday, sent him to the hospital.

The charge of shot tore a hole through the muscles under his left shoulder. He was immediately rushed to the German Hospital under the care of Dr. R. C. Chaffin. Unless complications set in, Dr. Chaffin says the wound will quickly heal.

BOLO CLUB IN PRIMARY FIGHT.

Backs Fredericks, a Comrade, for Governor.

Names Ford for the District Attorneyship.

War Veterans Promise Live Support.

Capt. John D. Fredericks for Governor, W. J. Ford for District Attorney and twelve other candidates were indorsed by the Bolo Club of Los Angeles county, representing 5000 Spanish War Veterans, Saturday night.

It was the greatest single indorsement that has come to any candidate and marked the opening of the Bolo Club's activity in the primary campaign. The candidates indorsed were chosen by the club without regard to their political affiliation, but solely upon their military records.

Besides Capt. Fredericks and Deputy District Attorney Ford, the club indorsed James Edward Stockwell, Republican candidate for State Controller; Gen. Frank C. Prescott, Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenth; Judge John W. Shenk and City Prosecutor George L. McKeeby for Superior judge; Judge William Frederickson, W. D. McConnell, David G. Hatheway and Wallace W. Wideman for police judge; W. L. Traeger for township justice; E. H. Pate, "Progressive," and Jesse R. Shaffer, Republican, for the Assembly.

The Bolo Club meeting was held at Eagles' Hall. It was large and enthusiastic

OVATION FOR FORD.

Returning from an outing at Venice, Deputy District Attorney Ford was given a big ovation Saturday Night. Several candidates favored by the Bolo Club were not able to be present. Capt. Fredericks is in the north, as is Mr. Stockwell. Neither was Gen. Prescott present, and the speech-making of the evening was divided among Mr. Ford, Mr. McKeeby and Judge Shenk, although other candidates spoke later.

Dr. Howard W. Seager presided. The candidates were chosen by an Indorsing Committee, which selected only Spanish War Veterans. W. W. Cooper was chairman of the committee.

The club pledged its efforts to help nominate and elect the candidates indorsed.

SCOUTS TOUR THE STATE.

After an automobile trip that covered more than 3800 miles, five Young Republicans have returned to Los Angeles with the announcement that the nomination of Capt. John D. Fredericks is assured and that he has tremendous support all through the north.

The members of this party left Los Angeles June 6, their machine bearing a great canvas banner, "John D. Fredericks, Republican Candidate for Governor." They were on the road two months, traveling well in advance of the District Attorney for the greater part of the trip.

C. B. Salisbury was in charge of the scouts and accompanying him were Charles Richards, Joseph Amestoy, C. H. Johnston and F. C. Parsons. They went north via the valley route and returned via the Coast.

"Everywhere we found great Republican enthusiasm," declared Mr. Salisbury, "the prevailing sentiment being that Johnson must be eliminated. At every village and city there was much interest in Capt. Fredericks. Crowds surrounded us at every stop and were eager to hear something about the personality of the Southern California candidate and to take his literature.

"Enthusiasm for him kept increasing all along the line and there is not the least doubt that he will be nominated. San Francisco, of course, is divided in its interests by reason of having Republican candidates who live there, but there is no getting around the fact that they are undividedly against the present administration.

"Fredericks stock is at par at San Francisco since the big Dreamland rink meeting and he will poll a handsome vote there. Outside of that one city, the northern counties are lined up for him heavily.

The trip of the five Young Republicans served as an excellent introduction for Capt. Fredericks and attracted many to his meetings when he followed at a later day.

SHORTRIDGE BUSY.

CAMPAIGNS IN THE SOUTH.

Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, will have a busy week in Southern California. This morning he continues his campaign into Riverside and San Bernardino counties. He will visit Redlands, Colton and Riverside and will speak at San Bernardino tonight.

Tomorrow the popular candidate will visit Arlington, Corona, Ontario and Pomona, speaking at a night meeting at the latter place. On Wednesday, Mr. Shortridge will visit Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton and at night will speak at a big Republican rally at Pasadena.

Saturday Mr. Shortridge spoke at the Iowa picnic at Long Beach. He is an Iowan and has the indorsement of thousands of Iowans in his race for the United States Senatorship.

With scores of other candidates, Mr. Shortridge visited the Catholic picnic at Venice Saturday. He spoke to large audiences upon each occasion. The candidate is making a personal campaign and is attracting large audiences wherever he speaks.

He will be feted by Republican women in Los Angeles before he returns north, and will address a number of Republican gatherings here during the next fortnight.

Women for Fry.

A women's campaign club has been formed to boost the candidacy of Bernard Fry, who is running for Supervisor in the Third District. Mrs. Arthur LaBrie is president; Mrs. E. E. Hunter, vice-president; Mrs. F. Farnham, secretary, and Mrs. A. Barton, treasurer. The club committee is composed of Mmes. H. Browning, George Goldsmith, Henry Klein, Georgia Randall, J. D. McCarthy, B. Goldman, P. Bohman, J. Hadden, C. Ellsworth, S. Messenger, C. R. Newton, M. Taylor, W. Wolf, I. Shepard, S. Shane, E. Abbott, J. Abel, W. W. Wood, W. Haggard, F. Wolf, R. Weisbrod, H. Hartman, J. H. Jadek, R. H. Jones, J. Robinson, T. R. Browne, F. Allender, A. Neisbart, G. Baum, H. Winkler, A. Robinson and R. Morse.

Political Notes.

Dick Culver, chairman of the committee campaigning for Sidney N. Reeve, candidate for the Superior bench, is basing his campaign upon an appeal for promotion in recognition of good service. Mr. Reeve is now justice of the peace.

Cards are out carrying the picture of Judge Frank R. Willis and surrounded by the announcement that he is a candidate for re-election as Superior judge. The announcement is printed in six different languages.

Gen. Frank C. Prescott is planning a coup tomorrow, when he will hold a meeting at the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle. Most of the old soldiers are for Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Gen. Prescott's opponent for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth, and the general is going to try to cut in on the support.

The Women's Republican League will give a luncheon at the Alexandria Thursday in honor of candidates for the judiciary who are Republicans. Twenty-six have been invited.

James Edward Stockwell, Republican candidate for Controller, will return to Los Angeles in a few days, after having campaigned in the north. He has no opposition for the nomination, unless the interloping of Chambers is regarded as opposition.

Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican candidate for United States Senator, will be the guest of honor at a reception to be given by the Women's Republican League at the Alexandria on August 20.

R. H. Jackson, Republican candidate for the Assembly from the Seventieth district, is making quite a campaign against city and county consolidation by way of embellishing a platform of Republicanism.

The committee of 100 men representing Jewish social and civic organizations Saturday indorsed the candidacy of Harry Lyons for Assemblyman from the Sixty-fourth Assembly District.

Chief Deputy District Attorney W. J. Ford will spend the next two weeks campaigning throughout the county. Saturday he started his two weeks' vacation. During his absence Chief Trial Deputy Percy C. Hammon will be in charge of the office.

William P. James of Los Angeles, Associate Justice of the District Court of Appeal of the Second Judicial District, who is an aspirant for the Associate Justiceship of the Supreme Court, makes an appeal in his own behalf in which he says that he is the only member of either of the District Courts of Appeal who is a candidate for the associate justiceship which becomes vacant through the candidacy of Judge Angellotti for the chief justiceship. He thinks, too, that as the chief justice will undoubtedly be chosen from the northern part of the State, two associate justices should be elected from Southern California, which, he says, would be a fair and reasonable apportionment.—[Oakland Enquirer.

That Southern California is entitled to the Governorship this year and should have it, is the tenor of resolutions adopted by the East Oakland Democratic Club, of which Frank Cleary is president and Will Kappler secretary. The club, accordingly, indorsed Fred H. Hall for the gubernatorial nomination.

The Professional and Business Women's Republican Club will meet Monday night at the Hotel Stowell, when the speakers will be O. R. W. Robinson, Congressional candidate from the Ninth district; Justice J. W. Summerfield, candidate for justice of the peace and others.

The Theatrical Republican Club will meet next Thursday and indorse a State and county ticket. The club is supporting Capt. Fredericks for Governor, and Joe Ford for District Attorney.

Nearly every candidate for State office who was in the city, and all the candidates for county, Senatorial, Judicial and Assembly offices attended the Catholic picnic at Venice Saturday.

At a big Republican rally at Wilmington Saturday night addresses were made by Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenuth; Edward L. Heal, Republican candidate for State Treasurer; Henry Stieglitz, candidate for the Assembly from that district; ex-Senator Henry E. Carter, candidate for police judge, and Col. R. W. Richardson.

A non-partisan rally was held Saturday night on the lawn at the home of W. W. Wideman, No. 1325 Central avenue. Mr. Wideman is a candidate for police judge. Candidates for various offices were present and made brief speeches.

Mrs. Mabel Friday,

The "calendar woman," who was reported missing to the police yesterday. She is thought to have returned to her home at Brawley, following a quarrel with her husband.

SEARCH FOR MRS. SOLOMON GRUNDY

MRS. FRIDAY LEAVES SATURDAY; REPORTED SUNDAY.

Police Appealed to to Help Find Woman to Whom Things Happen on Succeeding Days of the Week. Husband Tells of Misunderstanding; Seeks Reconciliation.

The police yesterday were asked to search for Mrs. Mabel Friday, 25 years old, who appears to be a feminine edition of Solomon Grundy of nursery rhyme fame. Born on a Sunday, christened on Monday and married on Wednesday, the chief events in her life still circle the calendar and occur on successive days.

With her 5-year-old son, she was reported yesterday as missing. This is the succession of events as reported by her husband: Quarreled on Thursday, Mrs. Friday, herself again on Friday, left on Saturday, reported on Sunday. The temperamental cycle for the three preceding days, the statement to the police says, was Monday, pleasant; Tuesday, passive, Wednesday, displeased.

The domestic bark of the Fridays put out Sunday with the weather flags flying fair. Monday there came a change in the Friday barometer, but the sea still smooth. Tuesday choppy waves ruffled the surface, Wednesday the Friday vessel was in squalls and Thursday and Friday, the Fridays were looking for some Crusoe island. Saturday the wreck came and Sunday the police were appealed to.

Mrs. Friday is believed to have gone to Brawley, the Fridays' permanent residence. In Los Angeles they lived at No. 819 Crocker street. Yesterday, Mr. Friday "Sundayed" with relatives at No. 535 Stanford avenue.

FIVE JAILED FOR LARCENY.

Youths Brought From San Diego as Members of Gang of Automobile Thieves.

Five young men were brought from San Diego yesterday by Detectives McNamara, Erven and Hickok and lodged in the City Jail under a charge of grand larceny. They gave their names as James Summers, 19; Leo Lopez, 19; Leo Andrews, 20; Charles Peterman, 20, and Ralph Brown, 23.

The detectives say the boys are members of a gang of automobile thieves who have stolen a large number of cars in the county during the last few months. Brown was also charged with forgery. He is alleged to have passed a spurious check on Walter A. Quinche, No. 230½ South Spring street.

THE Four Essentials

Depositors with the SECURITY TRUST & SAVINGS BANK are assured the four essentials of a safe, solid financial home—

Stability, Ample Resources, Able Management, and Service.

¶ In selecting a depository for your savings, Stability is the first consideration. "Safety First" has always been the characterizing feature of SECURITY banking. Protection above all else for the individual depositor, best expresses the SECURITY'S idea of a bank for the people. It makes no loans to its officers or directors—accepts no accounts of other banks—invests its deposits only in the highest-class loans and approved investments—pays only those rates of interest which are consistent with safe banking. The nature of SECURITY investments is always open to the closest scrutiny.

¶ The SECURITY has the counsel, advice and backing of able men. For over a quarter of a century it has been under practically the same management. Its directors have all been residents here for twenty years or more. The successful conduct of their own affairs and their conservative management of SECURITY business have earned a community's confidence in their ability and integrity.

¶ The SECURITY is the largest savings bank in the Southwest. Its resources total the enormous sum of $46,000,000.00, and more than Eighty-eight Thousand individuals—one-tenth of all the savings bank depositors in California—claim it as their banking home.

¶ SECURITY Service is a tradition. Ever since the institution's inception this service policy has been maintained—that every patron must leave the bank with the feeling that the business he has just transacted has been a pleasant incident in the day's work. The unfailing courtesy on the part of the employes, and the personal attention of the officers, as a result of this policy, have made SECURITY Service traditional as the acme of accommodation.

If you want financial strength and efficient service the SECURITY is the logical bank for you.

IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY

DR. COYLE.
WESTLAKE PRESBYTERIAN.
"INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PROOF POINTS TO THE DIVINITY OF CHRIST."

"IS JESUS GOD?" was the subject of the sermon by Dr. R. J. Coyle at the Westlake Presbyterian Church yesterday. Preaching from John 1:1-3, he said in part:

"The proof of that wonderful life as recorded for us in the gospels. It is absolutely alone in human history. Jesus is born in a manger, grows up a carpenter shop, reared in the most humble circumstances, and when He opens His mouth all the world listens. He speaks and men wonder at the gracious words that fall from His lips. He rebukes sin in a way that burns into the soul like fire. He denounces hypocrisy in words that are hot and scathing as a whip, but to the poor outcast, the weak, He speaks by every foot. He speaks in accents more soft and sweet than were ever articulated by mortal lips. He is original without being eccentric, holy without being sanctimonious, serious without being sour, grave without being severe, tender without being weak. Approach His character from what side you will it is without a flaw. His piety is matched by His beneficence, His reverence by His brotherly kind. Temperate, He is never a sensualist. Courageous, He is never rash. Humble, He is never servile. Dignified, He is never cold. Sensitive, He is never affected. Devout, He is never ecstatic. Independent, He is never disrespectful. He has no defect and no excess. Not a trace of one virtue and too little of another, but always the most perfect balance of qualities. One can more easily add a beam of light to the sunset glory than improve the character of Jesus. Opposite elements combine in Him without jar or discord. Pure as a child, He is tempted as never man was tempted. Mighty enough to furnish bread for the famishing multitude on the seashore, He appeases the hunger by eating raw corn on the Sabbath. Able to get money from the mouth to pay the custom dues for Peter and His friend, Peter, He knows just that He has not where to lay His head. Able to calm the fury of the wild sea, we find Him asleep under the hot Syrian sun, weary with travel, asking drink of a woman who is a sinner. He raised the dead, but died Himself. 'He saved others; Himself He could not save.' Qualities contrasted and apparently opposite elements blend in Him in perfect unison. They combine to give character of the most faultless type. If He is set forth as God, His words and His works abundantly confirm the claim; if He is set forth as man, we find that His humanity is not of our own. Such in brief is the story of this marvelous life.

"Is this character an invention, a fiction, a creation of the human? If so, men without education, without special learning, without even ordinary abilities, have created a character immeasureably superior to any other to be found in literature. The world's great masters are altogether outdone in character portrayal by four unlearned and common men. Makers of fiction find it no easy task, nay, rather it is an impossible task, to create a thoroughly consistent and natural hero. There is sure to be inconsistency somewhere. The coloring is too sharp in some places or not sharp enough, so that the critics can find something to work upon. But the immortal creators of immortal characters are not always consistent. They borrow from one another. But from whom did the writers of the gospels obtained this incomparable picture? Who was there up to the time that could have given them the clew to such a unique character?

"To the character of Jesus add the claims. These claims are found in the gospels that record His life, and from one must be as authentic as the other. See, then, what claims He makes for Himself. He claims to be immortal; to have existed before the world was; to be the Judge before whom all men are finally to stand; to have a right to equality with the Father; to be one with the Father; to be without sin; to have power to forgive sin; to be the Lord of the Sabbath; to be the light of the world; the bread of life; the way, the truth, and the life; the door of the sheepfold; the good shepherd, and so on to the end of the list. These claims in the mouth of Buddha, or Plato, or Paul, or Dante, or Milton—nay, put them in the lips of Confucius, or Zoroaster, or Mahomet, and what is the most awful blasphemy? But the amazing thing about it is that when Jesus utters these claims we feel somehow that He has a right to them. They seem to fit Him as the light fits the sun. If He made these claims as either God, or an impostor, no criticism for any words can be too severe. If He did not make them His words are not worth the paper they are written on. But there is no alternative. That is no dream. When we put the character and the claims together there is only one conclusion possible, viz.: That Jesus Christ is God.

"Moreover, His power as indicated in changing the reckoning of time is strange that we should date from His cradle and not from His calendar and every letter-head in the infidel's office, should bear the date of the advent. It means something that Jesus is able to make such a record about Him. Judge Him by the effect. Or think of Him as indicated by changing the whole drift of civilization. It is said that all this power of Christ in a human soul? Can it be dissolved by spraying rose water upon them. Can the influence of Jesus by the same?"

TABERNACLE M. E. CHURCH.
"THE LOVE OF GOD IS THAT WHICH SAVES FROM SIN AND RUIN."

Bella Vista Heights Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday the pastor, Rev. W. F. Tilroe, D. D., spoke on "In the Grip of a Great Sin," and in part:

"Sins are sane. They act with reason. Impulse, prejudice, motives only occasionally Judgment rules. In the case of a man is seen to run on a fire, but it will be by and by a man is never in a safe place feeding the flames, and all is plain. So the folly of human action has a good reason behind it.

"The numbers of people who reach conclusion all wrong. The spread of evil is always the result. The progress of sin is the push of passion. The rise of demoralized vision of the world. The sure reign of darkness of mankind. The people there is a marvelous great opinion of one particular saying in the gospel of John, 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him might not perish but have everlasting life.' This great opinion must have great reasons. This is our study today—the grip of a great text. Why do so many people think so highly of these words?

"The first reason probably is in their universal application. They touch every man; they compass the whole world; they affect the present and the future. The very size of them compels; the fascination of wealth lies in the larger life it makes possible. The dominance of culture is in its sweep of vision. The city pulls from the farm because of its glare and drive. Men run with a multitude to do evil because it is a multitude. Even so this mighty saying enchains the thought of men because of its reach. It cannot be despised. It is likely; it is commanding. It must be reckoned with. If it is all so it means so much. The venturesome is awakened at its call. An eternal hope is in its face. Men cannot let it die.

"Another reason is its frank meeting of the sin problem. The speaker is not one who thinks all the troubles of life are the output of wrong. There is an ignorance, a weakness, a trial, an effort, a discomfort in life had sin never been heard of. There is a discipline of being. But the sin trouble is the commanding and esturating trouble. Guilt, and shame, and distress, and fear, and death, and ruin are ever in its hand. These words we study are so aboundingly welcome because they face and conquer the king of all troubles. Men need not perish. They may be saved. They may have and hold an everlasting life. The voice that tells them of so great a glory cannot be forgotten.

"Yet another reason is its atmosphere of kindness. Even a benediction is not forced on men. They believe even to be saved. There is love in the world. The love of God is in the world. The greatest love of God is in the world, the love that calls from sin and ruin. Toil becomes a triumph when love comes in. Love carries the pioneer through the trackless forest. Love makes motherhood not only bearable but a delight. Love casts out fear. Love is the blooming of all law. Love is the chalice carrying all good gifts. How could men neglect a hand so full of blessings. The gospel of love must conquer.

"Not the least of reasons is the outlook of these great words on immortality. Men are never satisfied with this life. It holds too much of wreck and ruin. It knows disappointment quite too well. It has so meager outcome for its capacity. Its cry too often indeed hears only echo for an answer. A speech that tells of everlasting life, of a home beyond this fleeting show, will always have its believers. A window in the skies will never be shut from the outlook. It has too much of meaning for men."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.
PRAYERS; NO SUBJECT FOR PREACHING BUT FOR PRACTICING

At Calvary Baptist Church, Rev. W. Leon Tucker, preached yesterday on "The Personal and Practical Value of Prayer." The speaker said in part:

"We make prayer more a problem than personal and practical. To many it is a burden rather than a blessing. Many ask how can prayer be answered rather than who can answer prayer. We are so taken up by the 'how' that we forget the 'who.' The 'how' of things is not hard to be understood if we know the 'who' of things. Prayer is not a subject for the preacher's preaching, but a subject for the people's practicing. If we had more prayer and less panic, the church of God would have more power.

"Many Christians have been perplexed by the apostle's exhortation, 'pray without ceasing.' Moffat, in his translation has added a valuable touch to this verse by translating it, 'never give up prayer.' Continuity is conquest and tenacity is triumph.

"In the days of Elisha a certain woman, who was deeply in debt, with her two children in the clutch of her creditors, consulted Elisha, the man of God, and was instructed to provide from the neighbors, vessels to receive oil. The vessels were all quickly filled and the oil was not yet stayed. There was yet oil when there were no vessels. It was the woman who stopped receiving, not the oil which ceased bestowing. She gave up before the oil gave out.

"Daniel the prophet is a remarkable example of a praying man who never gave up.

"Let us notice three things about prayer: First, that the character of prayer is work. Prayer in the New Testament is a divine labor. 'Laboring fervently in prayer,' says one, the apostle. The conquest of prayer, secondly, is waiting. True prayer is always followed by patience. 'Wait on the Lord,' is not said in vain to him who knows our God.

"Thirdly, the conflict of prayer is warfare. There is opposition. The opposition is not human. It comes from wicked spiritual hosts. The humblest upon his knees is discomfiting to devils and demons. But God is able and God answers, so never give up prayer."

DR. TURK.
FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.
TRUE CHRISTIANITY IS LIKE UNTO THE LIFE OF CHRIST HIMSELF.

At the First Congregational Church, Rev. Morris H. Turk, Ph. d., at the morning services chose for his subject, "Adventure With Christ," and spoke in part as follows:

"Wherever the teaching of Jesus is, you may be very sure you will find the spirit of high adventure. The coming of Christ into the world was in itself the greatest adventure known to history. His whole spirit was that of the spiritual pioneer; His entire ministry dedicated to exceeding the habits and traditions of mankind. He was the religious revolutionist of His day.

"He came into the world and the world did not receive Him, because He was opposed to the world as He found it. He withstood every unlovely tradition; opposed Himself with all His tremendous power to every customary wrong. In the presence of habitual injustice He stood for the compassionate justice and mercy of God.

"The lives of a great many of the disciples of Jesus at this day seem to be shorn of all that is heroic. We dare not give up our discipleship of Jesus; we dare not leave Him, for He is more to us than all the world combined, and yet we follow in His company without the uplift and joy of high and holy adventure, just through sheer devotion to duty, with the spirit of ancient stoicism. In the common place paths, in the mediocre ways we are following Him on the dead level of monotonous allegiance, finding our satisfaction chiefly in that high sense of self-respect which comes in our full devotion to duty. We never experience the joy of conquest.

"Jesus had not only to conquer the world; His first conquest was over Himself. His life was so transcendently heroic, so wonderful that the mind of man has never yet been able to scale its heights nor sound its depths.

"Adventure with Christ may not take a man beyond the desk in his office; may not take a woman beyond the walls of her home. It is not external conquest; it is a thing of the spirit, which brings the adventurer into high and holy fellowship with Christ. Everyone who becomes a disciple of Jesus does so at some risk. To be an average disciple of Jesus, close enough to keep within our vision His ideals and His commandments, does not involve any great risk; but to accept the friendship of the Master, to enter into allegiance with Him, without reservation, does involve some risk.

"The disciples of old undertook great risk when they gave their allegiance to Jesus; but, if John had not ventured his all in this discipleship of Jesus, the world would have lost the marvelous and incomparable spiritual interpretation of God and man in the Gospel of St. John. How reckless it seems that one man and four disciples should set out to lay the foundations of a kingdom destined to control the whole world. The high adventure which the disciples had with the Master made them leaders among men, made their names great in the world's history.

"'Is your life monotonous, unheroic, dull and drab? Then come nearer the Master; that is the secret of high adventure with Him. He who would scale the heights of spiritual experience must have unswerving devotion, follow closely the great Leader, go with Him hand in hand."

ELDER HIBBARD.
ALHAMBRA CAMP MEETING.
ADVENTIST PREDICTS WORLD'S LAST BATTLE TO BE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE TURKS.

That Russia is mentioned in Bible prophecy, that she will eventually lead the armies of the world into Palestine for a final reckoning with Mohammedanism, the common enemy of Christianity, that there the final battle of this world's history will be fought, were statements made by Elder E. J. Hibbard, professor of Biblical exegesis at Pacific Union College, St. Helena, in a sermon at the Seventh Day Adventist camp ground at Alhambra Saturday night. He said, in part:

"The present conflict of the nations in Europe is evidence that preparation for war does not prevent it. David Starr Jordan, William Jennings Bryan, Andrew Carnegie and others have been assuring us the world is too civilized for another great war. The gigantic European struggle is sufficient contradiction of the theory of these sirens of peace.

"The popular idea that Christ will reign on earth in conjunction with civil government, with the mere change of placing Christians in office is as far from the truth as midnight from midday. Daniel vii-27, Daniel ii-44 and Revelation xi:15-18 show this.

"Ezekiel xxxviii and xxxix predict Russia's end. Rosh, the Prince of Meshech and Tubal' is the reading of the revised version, and signifies Russia. She has sought Constantinople for 1000 years. Germany and Austria now oppose this. When the Turk shall be driven from Europe into Asia, and shall have made Jerusalem his capital in harmony with Daniel xi:45, Russia will lead the world's armies into Palestine. The final battle of the world's history will take place there. The present war is only preliminary to the final Armageddon. When this battle takes place war in this world will indeed cease, for no nation, no army, will be left alive. Jesus Christ will have returned according to Joel iii:9-14, and the kingdoms of this world will have given place to the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ."

REV. F. W. BURNHAM.
WILSHIRE BOULEVARD CHURCH.
RESULTS OF WORLD WAR NO MATTER WHAT THE COST, WILL BE GOOD.

At the Wilshire boulevard Christian Church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. F. W. Burnham, spoke on "Watchman, What of the Night?—An Outlook Upon the Present Crisis." He said in part:

"In these days of impending doom for the great nations of the earth we are all urging the cry, 'Watchman, what of the night? What is to be the outcome of this approaching Armageddon? If the world's rulers may not be halted in their mad rush into an apparently causeless war; if the militarists have led in the folly of armament until a crisis can no longer be averted; if the night of horrors is upon us, are there any gleams of day toward which the lovers of peace may set their faces?

"The message of the Prophet Isaias is a suggestive one. The future holds in store both good and evil. It is a continued blending of light and shadow. Out of the night of every great crisis a new and better day dawns. Through the bloody sweat of war old evils are put down. It will be so again. Already this word has appeared in an important editorial of a metropolitan paper, 'We must suffer in silence while these armed fools bleed each other white. There will be no more big armaments when this campaign is over. It will be a great gain, but the price is too frightful to contemplate.' If the very futility of war itself shall be demonstrated by this one vast world-turmoil, so that henceforth the nations may cease from the infernal waste of militarism and may devote their resources to the welfare of mankind the result will be worth whatever the cost.

"But Israel's prophet was a farseer. He saw not merely the dawn, but through the coming day. The new day in the world's life develops its own new ills and leads on to another night. There is here no final joining of the issues. Truth and error, good and evil, darkness and light struggle on to the end of the ages. Not until the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Christ will the perfect day be ushered in."

REV. JOHN M. BARNHART.
UNION-AVENUE M. E. CHURCH.
FUTURE LIFE—AN UNDISPUTABLE FACT BASED ON EVEN HEATHEN BELIEFS.

The pastor of Union-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. John M. Barnhart, yesterday morning preached on "Heaven." He said in part:

"From time immemorial men have believed in life after death. They did not always think of a desirable existence beyond the grave. It sometimes meant rebirth into this world to live in the body of some other animal; it meant a motley crowd of good and bad mingling in the lower world, known as hades, or sheol; it meant rigid separation of the good from the evil along the lines of absolute justice, as with the Egyptians. The imagery used to picture the abode of departed, is different with different nations and changes with the passing centuries.

"Heaven has been variously located; the employment of its citizens variously described. Whether it was thought of as the happy hunting ground where the hunter would enjoy the exhilaration of the chase; or the heaven of certain Christians who think of a place where the good will float on fleecy clouds, singing with the heavenly choir with harps in their hands, one conviction underlies it all, that the invisible part of man is capable of leaping the chasm of death.

"We see the dawning of the hope of immortality in the ancient world. In the Old Testament we hear the confident tone of the father who suffered the loss of his child, saying: 'He shall not return to me, but I shall go to him.' The noble Socrates, just before death, states: 'Those of us who think that death is an evil are in error. There is great reason to hope that death is good.' He hoped to be able to meet and converse with the good who had traveled the way before him. Wherefore, said he, be of good cheer about death, and know of a certainty that no evil can happen to a good man, either in life or after death.

"Life and immortality was brought to light through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, and what had been a hope in the heart of the ancient Greek, became a firm conviction in the apostle, Paul.

"When a prisoner at Rome, in a similar situation to Socrates, with the prospect that his imprisonment would end in execution, he wrote to the Philippian brethren, 'I hope God will be honored, either by my life or my death. I am sorely perplexed either way. My own desire is to depart and be with Christ, for this would be far better. But for your sakes it may be more needful that I should still remain here in the body.'

"He knew death would be better. He had a healthy-minded interest in this world, too. He believed in heaven and lived for it, but he was interested in the poor and did what he could to improve the conditions of this life, while working to prepare people for the next. An intense, sane interest in a future world, helps people to live their best in this world."

PERFECTLY AT HOME.

Ella Flagg Young, sometime superintendent of public schools at Chicago, is thought to be in the war zone. She is used to it.

INTO ITS OWN.

If the price of sugar continues to advance, the humble beet in the California fields will have to pinch itself to be sure whether it is a vegetable or a gold nugget.

THE HIGHER USE.

A big department store here moved its stock in a night. An army of 1000 men was employed in the feat. An American army can fight if it has to, but it has many better things to do.

ITS OWN ANSWER.

Marinetti, the chief disciple of the Futurists, says that the new drama should consist of calamities happening to the audience. In our opinion about nine out of every ten new productions do have that effect.

AN OBJECTION.

One of the worst things about a general war is that non-combatants are compelled to listen to prophets who see in the situation the end of the world. Every time a little war cloud arises somebody can prove by the Bible that this is the finish.

DEADLY VERSE.

Robert Bridges, laureate of England without a poem to his name, has written some verses supposed to inspire Great Britain to fight. England will never whip Germany with any such stuff as this, unless the Teutons read it and expire with disgust.

TWO VICTORIES.

Germany triumphed at Liege and Capt. Fredericks at Oakland on the same day. Both have steadfastly refused defeat at the hands of a prejudiced press. We don't know about Germany, but with Capt. Fredericks one victory is certain to lead to another.

A QUESTIONABLE PRESENT.

Virginia is having made a replica of a famous statue of George Washington to present to England next February to celebrate a hundred years of peace between the United States and England. While we do not doubt Virginia's honorable intentions we frankly question its tact.

IMPERIAL BALLET SALARIES.

In a recent county court case in London in which Miss Lydia Kyasht, the Russian dancer, figured, it transpired that her salary as one of the leading members of the Czar's Imperial Russian Ballet was but $7.50 a week. In London in common vaudeville she receives $1500 a week. That's one for democracy, anyway.

ARIZONA COTTON.

Last year Arizona produced 1200 bales of long staple cotton which was sold in Liverpool at an average of 22 cents per pound. This year the yield will be doubled and it is predicted that before the next census is taken Arizona cotton growers will be receiving one million dollars per annum, an amount equal to the yield of silver and one-third as great as the yield of gold.

THE WRONG APPEAL.

Efforts are being made at Washington to induce Carranza to avoid excesses when he enters Mexico City. If Huerta could only have been persuaded to avoid excesses while he was at the capital he might have lasted longer. As it is, he is out of it and an eastern contemporary has already suggested that he is entirely unconcerned by the cruel report that Mexico threatens to go dry.

OUR ONE DANGER.

The only way this country can possibly be dragged into the European struggle is over the decision in London through which Gunboat Smith lost his fight to Georges Carpentier after the American had clearly beaten the Frenchman. He barely grazed the top of his opponent's head with a final blow and Carpentier's second claimed and won a foul. It was one of those decisions which never decide anything except possibly the payment of bets.

NOT EFFECTIVE.

The late Baroness von Suttner of Austria won the Nobel peace prize once for her book, "Lay Down Your Arms." This novel was supposed to inspire Europe with a desire for peace in the way that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" aroused American feeling against slavery. The present situation does not seem to suggest her entire success, but Americans can at least be grateful that the lady's three pet detestations were Nero, Napoleon and Roosevelt.

A GREAT PEOPLE.

While other foreign countries are enthusiastically engaged in their mutual destruction the hosts of Iowa gathered on the sands of Long Beach Saturday in an entirely friendly onslaught upon a big commissary of good things. Iowa's conquest of Southern California has been complete, but not violent. There is no way to stay the invasion. If there was the State of Iowa would have discovered it and put it to the test long before this. Iowa cannot stop it and California does not want to. All that it takes to make an Iowan a Californian is to mail him a map of the Pacific Ocean and show him a railway guide.

OVERSEAS—THE SITUATION TODAY.

Reports from London admit that Liege has been captured. Positive assurance comes from Berlin that the Kaiser's troops have taken 4000 prisoners. It was reported that German cavalry had been seen as far south as Dinant, which possessed more significance, as it seemed as though it is intended to continue the march to the French capital.

It is declared, however, that a junction has been effected of the British, French and Belgian troops on Belgian soil, and this statement has created the wildest enthusiasm in Brussels. From Rome and Paris come word that Austria is moving troops toward Alsace, to effect a junction with the German forces by way of the Swiss frontier, and that an engagement there may be expected at any hour.

Paris is most enthusiastic over the occupation of Muelhausen in Alsace, and London has organized a special police force of 30,000 men to guard the waterworks and other public utilities.

THE KAISER: A LONELY FIGURE.

Listen! The band is playing a quick march. The men in the streets of Berlin are shouting, "Hoch, hoch, hoch, hurrah!" The women are waving their handkerchiefs. Between the walls of people rides a man in the blue uniform of a general. The young men and the gaily dressed girls acclaim him. He is at once their hero and their Emperor, the Kaiser Wilhelm.

But how does he appeal to an Englishman? Perhaps the most merciless description of the Kaiser ever penned was that by one of Lord Northcliffe's "bright young men," the late G. W. Steevens, who went with Kitchener to Khartum. He wrote:

"A man of middle size, sitting constrainedly and bolt upright, a dead yellow skin, hard-penciled eyebrows, a straight, masterful nose, lips jammed close together under a dark moustache pointing straight upward to the whites of his eyes. A face at once repulsive and pathetic, so harsh and stony was it, so grimly solemn. A face in which no individual feature was very dark, but which altogether was black as thunder. He raised his gloved hand in a stiff, mechanical salute and turned his head impassively from left to right, but there was no courtesy in the salute, no light in the eye, no smile on the tight mouth for his loyal subjects. He looked like a man without joy, without love, without pity, without hope. He looked like a man who had never laughed, like a man who could never sleep. A man might wear such a face who felt himself turning slowly into ice."

The man who wrote that is dead, the Kaiser has outlived him fourteen years. The description is admittedly far-fetched, but it has the basis of truth. Joy has left the Kaiser and his heart might very well turn to ice when he finds himself fighting today the nations which a few years ago joined with him in putting Great Britain into that position of "splendid isolation" which was England's lot when Steevens visited Berlin. Then Germany was supported by Russia, Austria, Italy and France. Today only Austria remains faithful to the War Lord.

It is freely admitted nowadays that Kaiser William II is distinctly the most forceful man the house of Hohenzollern has produced since the time of Frederick the Great, not even excepting his grandfather, the old Emperor William I, so beloved in Germany. The family traces back for eleven centuries and William II has shown himself as capable of taking a man's share in the making of his country as any Hohenzollern.

Although the British are at war with him they acknowledge his capacity, his immense zeal for Germany and his pride in the glory of his house. He showed his remarkable qualities while still a young man, when he quarreled with his father. And when that father died and papers which William did not wish published were in the palace, the present Kaiser threw a cordon of troops around the royal residence and took possession of every document in the place.

Again, when Bismarck, who had considered himself indispensable, verbally offered to resign as Chancellor, not for a moment dreaming that his offer would be accepted, William II acted in characteristic fashion. He let Bismarck go home and then sent an officer to his residence with instructions to come back with Bismarck's resignation in writing. The officer returned with the information that the Iron Chancellor would wait on Kaiser William the next day to present the resignation in person. The Kaiser sent the man back to fulfill his mission, and thus William II "dropped the pilot."

The Kaiser believes the Socialists are the curse of his kingdom. One day as he rode through a by street in Berlin he came on a score of Socialistic workmen. Eighteen reluctantly took off their caps to him. Two remained covered. Whereupon the Kaiser rode up to the two and saluted them until their caps came off for shame, if not for loyalty.

Is the Kaiser entirely without humor? A little anecdote told of an American woman would seem to prove otherwise. Mme. de Hegermann-Lindencrone relates the incident in Harper's Magazine. She says that the American woman, having met the Emperor of Germany in Norway, where their yachts were stationed, and feeling that she was on familiar enough terms, said to him:

"Is it not lovely in Paris? Have you been there lately?"

"No, I have not," answered the surprised Kaiser.

"Oh, how queer! You ought to go there. The French people would just love to see you."

"Do you think so?" said the Emperor, with a smile. Thus encouraged she enlarged on her theme, and, speaking for the whole French nation, continued gushingly: "And if you would give them back Alsace and Lorraine they would simply adore you."

The Kaiser, looking at her gravely, as if she had solved a mighty problem, said: "I never thought of that, madame."

The Kaiser now is bent, not on giving back Alsace and Lorraine, but on capturing Paris again as the first William did in the war of 1870. The chances seem desperately against him, for he stands now a lonely figure in Central Europe, a strange position for a man who, not so long ago, had a treaty of alliance with Austria and Italy, a close diplomatic understanding with Russia, and no fear of France because of that country's alliance with Russia.

Curiously enough, the United States had a share in breaking up Germany's understanding with the four other European powers. When Dewey won at Manila and this country took the Philippines a new element was introduced into the game of international politics which disturbed the European powers and none more than Germany. Dewey's victory had far greater consequences than merely securing to the United States Spanish possessions in the Far East. It checked German, French and Russian aggrandizement there. And when it was followed by a treaty between Great Britain and Japan, to which succeeded the war between Japan and Russia, a great change came over the spirit of the Kaiser's dreams.

After Russia's defeat by Japan Germany no longer considered the Bear's co-operation effective. That was an error on Germany's part, the effect of which is seen today. France, whose alliance with Russia had really been for self-protection against Germany, turned to Great Britain and the triple entente was established, supported by the British-Japanese alliance. At the same time Italy showed signs of falling away and Germany was practically left with no supporter but Austria. And so Germany enters upon the supreme test alone, save for the comparatively limited support which Austria, harassed by Servia, can give it.

MONOPOLY OF NAVIGATION.

Seas, rivers and lakes appear to be free to all keels, but they are not. The roadbed is free, but the terminals are not. Every commercial city on a harbor or a river ought to own its wharves and not permit them to be monopolized by private corporations, which combine and exclude from wharf facilities all vessels not the property of a member of the corporation. The Federal Commissioner of Corporations in a report on transportation by water in the United States says:

"Regular lines on the Lakes are in the hands of the railroads, being in the main western extensions of the eastern lines ending at Buffalo. These lines maintain water-and-rail rates at a mild, fixed differential under the all-rail rates. Coastwise lines south of New York and Boston excepting the Merchants and Miners Transportation Company, controlled by the New Haven Railroad, are controlled by the Atlantic, Gulf, and West Indies, the coastwise combine, or they are northern extensions of southern railroads terminating at Gulf or South Atlantic ports. Long Island Sound lines are controlled by the New Haven Railroad. Lines north of New York and Boston, including Boston-New York, are united under the name of the Eastern Steamship Corporation."

E. J. Clapp, in an article in the American Economic Review, says: "In the course of the last seven years a consolidation of water carriers engaged in the American inland and coastwise trade has been quietly completed. Equipment suitable for package freight or passengers cannot be chartered in the open market; nor are traffic arrangements with connecting carriers attainable for a new line on a moment's notice; nor is a traffic organization inland, and prestige among inland shippers, to be created overnight. Carriers of coal and phosphate rock, Great Lakes grain and iron ore are free lances, but the carriers of package freight, the regular lines, the railroads of the water, have found they have a monopoly, and have consolidated, or united into rate conferences for the purpose of controlling rates."

The transfer of a vast number of foreign vessels to American registry will have a tendency to break up steamship combinations. If Los Angeles can keep her wharves at San Pedro free from absorption by railroad or steamship combinations it will aid to make her one of the great maritime ports of the world.

NATIONS WITHIN NATIONS.

Cosmopolitan London has a peculiar peril to face should war come to the shores of England. For the population of London includes many races and nationalities, and the Russian Jews alone comprise a nation within a nation in the capital of the world.

The population of Greater London is nearly 11,000,000, but it is estimated that nearly half of them are of foreign origin. There are 60,000 Russian-born Jews alone, not counting their extensive English-born families, and they maintain no less than four newspapers, two of the dailies claiming a circulation of 12,000 and 15,000 respectively. They are published in Yiddish and one of them, at least, frankly describes itself as "an anarchist communist journal."

These Russian Jews are mostly refugees from the intermittent pogroms in Russia, and they are no patriots. In any war in which England is fighting side by side with Russia they may be reasonably regarded as enemies for whom any treachery would savor of the virtue of war.

It is estimated that there are at least 300,000 Germans in London, half of them Jewish. Whole suburbs are populated by them—the wealthier classes in Maida Vale, Kilburn and St. John's Wood; the poorer overrunning the east end districts like Tottenham, Hackney, Stepney, Dalston and Greenwich.

In the very heart of London proper there is a great district known as Soho, which is almost exclusively populated by foreigners. Two French and three German daily newspapers flourish in this district and claim circulations of 20,000 and 30,000.

Unlike the foreigner in America these people are slow to merge into the ordinary population. They retain their national customs and living conditions generally and are never assimilated. There are thousands of Poles, Finns, Hungarians, Galicians, Danes, Scandinavians, Greeks. It is easy to see that no small part of England's anxiety would be engendered by this intense, emotional, fiery multitude of diverse interests with whom, even in times of peace, the London police find it difficult to cope.

DEFICIT IN RECRUITS.

In a report on the British Army and Navy issued four weeks ago it is interesting, in the light of later events, to observe that there was a remarkable deficit in the number of recruits for both services.

In the army the deficit below the estimated requirements was 40,000—31,000 being in the infantry regiments.

In the navy the total deficit was declared to be in the neighborhood of 150,000—a colossal figure that boggles the imagination. War in actuality favors recruiting, however, and it is to be surmised that Great Britain will have made up these serious deficiencies by now.

GOOD WORK MALIGNED.

All effort to help the down-and-outers along practical lines is liable to misrepresentation by the champions of shiftlessness. Judge Williams was instrumental in establishing a farm for inebriates, where these victims of lost will-power might have a chance to work out their own salvation. Therefore he became an object of aversion to those who believe simply in relieving the idle at the expense of the industrious. To teach a man how to work, if from disuse he has forgotten the way, is the only remedy for poverty and unemployment. But this cure doesn't suit the grievance manufacturers.

ROOM FOR A SUCCESSOR.

Europe has been manifesting some sentiment against the plan of a realty syndicate to cut up the field of Waterloo into plots to be sold to building speculators. These business agents seem to have anticipated the fact that possibly Europe might shortly have a new field of destiny to celebrate. There is, of course, no particular reason why a big slaughter field should be cherished by posterity.

A HELL OF A WORLD.

BY HARRY BOWLING.

Certainly he was a fool who said in his heart, "There is no God." On a par with him is the modern fool who says in his solar plexus, "There is no hell." There doesn't have to be any hell outside this papier-mache pill on which we are spinning through the ether. Periodically we suffer from epidemics of bedlam, the rest of the time we are passively mad. Hell is always here and in between times the devils are loose.

An archduke is assassinated by a crazy epileptic and millions of men who are not archdukes, nor related to archdukes, nor especially interested in them, must start to butcher one another before the grand stand, where seats to see the show sell for thousands of dollars. This is the exalted logic, the enlightened reason to which men have evoluted from peace-loving, nut-cracking monkeys. We have progressed from nuts to mutts. When the monkey lost his tail and developed a thumb some of him lived, but most of him died, and man was the consequence. Somehow it seems the best part of him was the part that died. The part that lived started to make killing a science.

Like the frogs in the fable we have dethroned King Log and set us King Stork in his stead, and we tease and tantalize him until he consents to gobble us up. Then we get out "specials" and send children racing madly up and down our streets, yelling, "All about that horrible war!" Oh, yes; we are loyal subjects to King Stork.

How the spirits of the old Romans must be confounded when they compare their contribution to civilized advance with that of the twentieth century! They thought, with their living torches and Christian-fed lions, they were making a big splurge and speeding up the old world to a break-neck velocity. After all, what paltry performers they were! Yet we must not judge them too harshly. They did the best with the limited material at hand.

They had not our advantages. They had no aeroplanes to drop bombs on ocean leviathans. They had no bombs and no leviathans. We can destroy life and property wholesale, while they had to do it in insignificant packages. Yes, we are wholesalers now, not retailers, in the important business of setting up and knocking down ninepins.

Let us scold Jack and Polly for smashing their nice new toys, while we construct $5,000,000 dreadnoughts and people them with hundreds of living souls, and then wait excitedly for the "extry speshul" to learn how many of them have been sent to the bottom of the ocean. We don't buy 10-cent toys for children with the express stipulation that they are to be smashed in pieces. We specialize on fighting machines and hope to get our money's worth out of the destruction they can accomplish.

Caligula said he wished the whole Roman people had one neck so that he might chop off all of their heads at one blow. A little more scientific development and some modern ruler will soon be in a position to carry out the progressive ideas of the Emperor Caligula. He lived before his time.

Behind the veneer of politeness there is much of Caligula still rampant in the hearts of men. Consider the aeroplane. When the chances for a fatal accident were two to one against the airmen, people flocked to see them. When a performer was smashed to pieces refinement rushed and scrambled to get one of the pieces as a keepsake. As the rate of safety increased the rage for aviation fell off, until soon there was no money in straight flying. Then by flying upside down the interest was revived, but still the danger and risk were too slight.

The European war has increased aeroplane talk. People speculate now as to what the chances are for aeroplanes to smash into smithereens such cities as London or Paris or Berlin. Caligula rubs his eyes and begins to take notice. And if they fail to add their quota to the general ruin aeroplanes will be relegated to the top shelf as objects not likely to catch the public imagination or touch the public purse.

Yes, for all our nice ways and pleasant looks and beliefs and hopes and optimism, this is still a hell of a world, where red devils ever keep the war pot a-boiling.

TOWN DOGS.

WALT MASON IN THE TIMES.

This is the season when town pups, which have no private drinking cups, too often must go dry; there are no fountains to produce three fingers of refreshing juice for bowwows trotting by. Along the blazing thoroughfare they seek in vain, in their despair, for something they can drink; their blood gets heated and their jaws are dripping foam—with ample cause—their eyes turn red or pink. When some one sees a thirsty brute, he "Mad dog!" cries, the peelers shoot, the mob arrives with bricks; they chase poor Carlo through the town and when at last they've run him down, they knock him out with sticks. Not one in fifty dogs thus slain is mad or bughouse or insane, they're merely in distress; if dogs could always have a drink, the "rabies" fake would die, I think; they'd be one scare the less. So let us station in the shade large tubs of wholesome lemonade for dogs which are athirst, and they will bless us day by day, in their own friendly, doggish way, till they are wienerwurst.

SOME HISTORICAL PHRASES.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger:] William J. Bryan nominated himself for President of the United States by uttering just twenty-four words about "a cross of gold."

One sentence spoken by Webster about "liberty and union" more than any other thing crystallized the North into thinking the slaves could be freed and the country still live.

Captains of industry had better learn to esteem the value of phrases. Vanderbilt's "the public be damned" made more enemies for his railroad than a book full of logic could convert into friends.

"All the traffic will bear" was the most deadly boomerang for the railroads, for while it lays down a perfectly sound principle, it makes people believe they are being swindled.

That was a genius among railroad workmen who thought of calling it the "full-crew" law. It gave the impression that the crews on trains were incomplete, and so carried conviction among folks who do not stop to reason.

Lawson's "system" was a powerful argufier, and Col. Roosevelt's phrases about the "privileged" classes and "predatory wealth" swung more people to his way of thinking than a volume of sound arguments.

George F. Baer never said he had a "divine right" to operate the coal mines, but lots of people thought he did, which had the same effect.

RIVERS AND CROSS IN WONDERFUL CONDITION.

CROSS IS IN GREAT SHAPE.

Has Fine Workout With a Big Gallery.

Rivers in Wonderful Condition Also.

Beecher Makes a First-Class Impression.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

A full house of boxing fans visited Jack Doyle's training quarters yesterday afternoon to watch Leach Cross in his last workout before he meets Joe Rivers tomorrow night.

Leach never appeared to better advantage than yesterday. After his usual gymnasium work he boxed several rounds each with Patsy Riley, Johnny Frayne and Charlie Dalton and when he finished, both he and his brother, Manager Sam Wallace, were well satisfied with his condition.

Cross was never more confident of winning a fight than he is in the coming contest.

He surely looks the part and says himself that he is feeling better than at any time since he has appeared on the Coast.

IN EARNEST.

Cross seems to be more in earnest to win this contest than any I have seen him in. He has gone about his work in more of a business-like manner and appears sincere in everything he does.

His boxing is better than I have ever seen it and while he never abuses his training partners, he shows enough power in his punches to satisfy the most critical.

Taking his condition, all in all, I would say he was surely at his best and if he loses, will have no excuse to offer.

RIVERS WORKING.

Joe Rivers is working just as hard as Cross, in fact, I will say, I have never seen him in better condition for a twenty-round contest than he is at the present time, since he trained for his match with Ad Wolgast.

He worked one solid hour Saturday afternoon, without any loafing, and when he finished he was apparently as fresh as when he started.

His wind seemed perfect, his hitting was as hard as ever it was, his judge of distance was all to the good and he countered whenever he wanted to, with telling effect. He surely looked like the Joe Rivers of a few years ago, and like Cross, if he loses, will have no excuses to offer.

BEECHER GOOD.

Willie Beecher worked out with Charlie Dalton yesterday afternoon at Jack Doyle's and proved that he is a very tough customer to beat.

We all know that Dalton is a hard man for any clever fellow to make a showing with, and Willie did not have a good opportunity to show all his cleverness. But he did enough to show us that he is there with any kind of the rough stuff, and as this was his first workout in seven weeks, we will have to wait until later, when he meets a cleverer boy, to show just how classy he is with his cleverness.

He backed the tough Dalton all over the ring and out-boxed him at every angle. Any time any lightweight can bull Dalton around the ring, it is quite proof enough that he is strong.

Beecher made a decided hit with the fans.

THE PRELIMS.

Johnny Arrouzay, who is to meet Patsy Riley in the semi-windup to the Cross-Rivers contest Tuesday night, weighed 123¼ pounds yesterday after he got through with his trainer, Ben Smith.

These boys are to meet at catch-weights and Ben seems to be under the belief that Patsy will outweigh

SAN DIEGANS FUSS OVER FINISH OF A RELAY RACE.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 9.—San Diego Rowing Club and San Diego Aquatic Club members are tonight at sword points as a result of the dual swimming meet between the two clubs held this morning at the rowing club. The clubs were tied with 36 points each up to the relay race, which the Aquatics won, but which was protested by the rowing club. It was claimed Earl Kyle failed to touch the finish mark for his lap and treaded water. Now the Aquatics claim West of the rowing club jumped the gun. This event may be raced over. A meeting of the judges has been called for tomorrow by Rodgers, local A.A.U. president.

The surprise of the meet was the defeat of George Bean in the 220-yard dash by Charles Shields of the Aquatics, time 2:04 2-5. Bean captured the 440 for the rowing club with Earl Rubin second, time 6:17, but two inches separated these boys at the finish. Rubin took sick and was unable to swim in the 880, so E. Burns, a 15-year-old swimmer, represented the Aquatics, and beat George Jessop of the rowing club forty yards, time 14:32.

Richard Jessop won the 50-yard dash for the rowing club with Hatton of the Aquatics two inches behind, time, 28 seconds.

Charlie Shields won the 100-yard dash for the Aquatics. Earl Kyle, Hatton, Sprott and Shields swam the relay for the Aquatics. Creelman of the rowing club won the 50-yard on breast, and Joe Jessop of the same club won the 50-yard event for juniors. Aiken of the Aquatics won the swim on back, with Pinkston winning the fancy diving for the Aquatics.

No Time to Sleep.

ALL KINDS OF SPORTS ON THE BILL FOR THIS WEEK.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA is to have a big week in sports between now and next Monday, unless all signs fail.

Today everybody holds their breath, in preparation for a mad dash through the calendar of sporting events which surpasses anything we have had for several weeks.

Tomorrow the big week starts with a tremendous explosion. In the afternoon Hap Hogan will lead his Trimpled Tigers, whose grasp on second place is scarcely discernable to the naked eye, against a bunch of downtrodden gentlemen who have served to make the name of Los Angeles much loved in the city of Oakland, where the despised tail-enders recently smacked them down in a seven-game series.

With the opening game of the Angel-Tiger series over, the fans will have time to kiss the wife and grab a hunk of pie and rush out to Vernon, where Messrs. Leach Cross and Joe Rivers will repeat their justly celebrated tango act by special request, preceded by usual speech by Harry Burns, the well-known stump speaker.

Baseball will tide the fans over Wednesday and Thursday, and on Friday those who enjoy aquatics can journey down to Venice to see the opening night of the Southern California swimming championships, which will be completed on Saturday night.

In addition to the swimming and the Angel-Tiger thing, there will be baseball at the Los Angeles Country Club between the devil-may-cares of that organization and those of San Gabriel, and the calm city of Long Beach will be enlivened by the pop-pops of the motor boats in their annual regatta.

The week will end up with two games of baseball and the final races of the motor boat regatta at Long Beach. Looks like a big week.

AMERICANS IN WORKOUT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Australasian tennis players failed to appear at the West Side Club courts for practice today, following their victory over the British Isles team at Boston.

The Americans, Maurice E. McLoughlin and R. Norris Williams II, worked for nearly an hour without keeping score. McLoughlin then took the court with Thomas C. Bundy, his partner in the national doubles. The two faced Williams and T. R. Pell, and won the first set at 8-6. The games were at five-all in the second set when the men stopped.

VENICE TO MEET DILLON'S ANGELS.

DOC WHITE WILL OPEN SERIES WITH LOS ANGELES ON TUESDAY.

The old family feud will be renewed at Washington Park Tuesday afternoon, when the Tigers meet the Angels. Both clubs are in a slump at present and it will take some fast ball to keep San Francisco from becoming the runner up in the present race.

Hap is going to start Doc White against the Angels and he is confident that the physician will humble the Dillonites. The Angels have yet to take a series from the Tigers this year and they will probably put up a tremendous fight against the Tigers and that jinx that keeps them from winning ball games from the Venice club.

"SPEED" M'DONNELL IS SIGNED AGAIN.

HOSP IS INJURED MAKING IT NECESSARY TO RE-SIGN UTILITY MAN.

"Speed" McDonnell has been hauled back into the ranks of the Venice Tigers. He was released last week to make room for McLean, but the disability of Hosp has put the Tigers in a bad way for a utility man and Speed is one of the best all-around men on the Coast.

Hosp has a bad ankle that will keep him out of the game for at least two weeks. This was a bit of tough luck with Hoppy going so well at the third corner.

PRELIMS MAY BE BIG SURPRISE.

ARROUZAY-RILEY CONTEST IS CERTAIN TO BE REAL BATTLE.

They say that the preliminaries to the Cross-Rivers bout tomorrow night are likely to almost equal the main event in class and in action.

Patsy Riley, Cross's featherweight hope, and Johnny Arrouzay, who is backed by no less an authority than Jimmy Austin, world's 108-pound champion, have rounded into first-class shape and are quite likely to put up an awful battle.

Steve Dalton, whose illustrious brother, Charles, made the family name famous, is scheduled to meet Dummy Jordan, a tough young gent who would pick a fight with a Santa Fe locomotive if there was anything in it and as both youngsters are noted for ability to slug, it should be a great battle.

JOHNNY REESE TO MEET JOE LOPEZ.

SEVERAL OTHER CLASSY BOUTS ARRANGED FOR COMING VENICE BOXING.

Johnny Reese and Joe Lopez will provide the main attraction Wednesday night at Venice and if all reports prove true, they will supply more action in four rounds than is usually crammed into ten.

Lopez has been improving in every bout and has enough confidence to challenge Jack Johnson. He thinks that the little New Yorker who last week was declared a winner over Dave Smith, will be easy for him.

Fred Matting and Kid Sandy, two youths who provided much action in a previous bout, have been rematched as have Kid Solle and Bert King, while Charley Goodrich, the young man with the kick in either fist, will probably be matched with Benny Yanger.

LIPTON ASKS FOR A DELAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Royal Ulster Yacht Club last Friday sent a cable dispatch to the New York Yacht Club saying it would be glad if a postponement of one month could be granted for the America's cup races, and then it might ask later for further postponement.

Krause Pitches Winning Ball in Morning Game.

BY CLYDE A. BRUCKMAN.

The reign of terror is over. Walt McCredie, the Coast League kaiser, has retreated towards the north with his forces after taking four out of the seven engagements. Kaiser Mac nearly turned Washington Park into a cemetery of shattered pennant hopes and lost ball games. Only the perfect shooting of Col. Hitt in the afternoon battle saved the Tiger cohorts from utter rout.

Admiral Krause and his fleet attracted Venice at 10:30 yesterday morning and by noon had the seaport laid low, 2 to 1. His shots traveled fast and curved wide, holding the Tiger offense helpless until the ninth-inning skirmish. Both forces declared an armistice for three hours while they collected their wounded and buried their dead. The kaiser's heavy artillery then proceeded inland under the command of Gen. Higginbotham and engaged the Tigers in a second conflict on the famous Washington Park field, the scene of Hogan's Waterloo in past years.

HITT EFFECTIVE.

Commander Hogan placed Col. Hitt on the firing line in the afternoon battle and told him to fight until the last man and the last charley horse was dead. The brave colonel met the onslaught of the kaiser's forces with a cool, unerring fire that defeated them 4 to 0.

He killed seven of the invaders at the plate, outright. The seven blows landed by kaiser's men were widely scattered and ineffective. They charged the local defence a dozen times, but each time they were repulsed with severe losses. It was a grim struggle of the kaiser's forces, so used to victory that the sting of defeat made them fight harder against Commander Hogan's desperate squad.

Gen. Higginbotham had more enemies than the kaiser. He was forced to fight in the face of heavy cannonading from the Tigers all afternoon. No less than five nations jumped on the husky German general during the battle and they wounded him severely four times. His transportation facilities were greatly hindered at the plate by the opponents' war clubs. His own shots whistled back at him, around him and over him with increased velocity.

NO HELP.

He gazed helplessly at his own men and pleaded with them for a little offensive assistance, but they were so

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) Aug. 9.—Followers of track athletics are looking forward to an international contest during the national championships of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will be decided here next month. Unless something unlooked for should intervene, England's premier sprinter, W. R. Applegarth, is expected to come over and measure strides with America's fastest men, of whom Howard Drew is easily the swiftest. A meeting between Applegarth and Drew at 100 and 220 yards would prove a wonderful attraction.

Many of the experts think that Applegarth's recent showing, around two turns in 21 1-5s. for the furlong, stamps him as a likely winner at that distance, but few are of the opinion that he would be able to take Drew's measure over the shorter trip. The American officials are very anxious to bring these men together and it is hoped that they will not meet with disappointment.

HARRY ABLES COMES BACK.

Oak Heaver Takes Another from Angels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Oakland just did enough to get the series from the Angels in the week's run. Fortunately for the hopes of the Christianites, they gathered in the morning struggle by a tally of 5 to 1, but when it came to the afternoon it was a different story.

The southrons, stung by defeat, took a new lease of life, and with Killilay doing all sorts of stunts with the ball save the task of getting it across the rubber, they jumped into the lead and stayed there, until the final was 10 to 7. At that, the Commuters staged a ninth-inning rally that might have been dangerous, but that it was nipped in the bud.

FOUR HEAVERS.

Tyler Christian trotted forth four pitchers for the edification of the Sunday-afternoon multitude. He started Jack Killilay, who was really responsible for the loss of the game. When Jack weakened he was retired in favor of Pruiett, who tripped in an effort to retire a batsman, and wrenched the ligaments in his knee so severely that he had to be carried to the clubhouse. Christian himself made the third of the quartette. Tyler lasted through the seventh with all the time the score growing larger.

At last he decided to try out a new importation, one Gay Reppy by name. Reppy is a husky grammar-school lad of 16 from Oakland, and he didn't look half bad in the box the two innings he lasted. Just one hit, a long three-sacker, made by Moore, was all the Angels were able to secure off his delivery.

A TIE.

For a brief spell the score was a tie. Ness was driven home by Zacher in the second inning, and the Angels evened it up when Wolter made the circuit in the third, on a single, a hit for Metzger and an error by Ness in handling a grounder from Maggert, where he should by rights have had a double play.

The Oaks bunched their hits in the fourth, to take the lead temporarily. With two down Rube Gardner hit to second, Zacher to right and Hetling to center. Boles contributed to the gaiety by hitting a baserunner in the back of the head, and when the inning had closed there were two runs.

ANGELS RUSH.

Dillon's men came with a rush in the fifth. Hughes, first up, fanned. Wolter tripled to center, and when Metzger, Maggert and Abstein walked in a row a run was forced in. Ellis shot a hot one through second to the outfield for two more scores, and Killilay was retired in a hurry.

With Pruiett on the mound Moore beat out an infield single, scoring Abstein. Johnson poked the ball at first and when Pruiett tried to take the throw, the runner was safe, Page scoring. Incidentally Pruiett wound up with a badly wrenched knee and had to be packed to the clubhouse, Christian assuming the mound. When Boles hit to third and Arbogast attempted to catch Moore at home, the Angel runner was called safe with the last of six runs for the inning.

MORE TALLIES.

Three more tallies were picked up by the southerners at odd times and it was well for the Dillonites.

A three-bagger by Ness in the eighth gave the Oaks their fourth run and errors helped them wonderfully in the ninth. Moore made a wild throw on Mitze that sent the catcher to second. Reppy fanned, but Middleton slipped loose a nice drive to center, and when Abstein, trying for a fancy play, juggled a throw on an infield hit by Menges, Mitze scored. A sacrifice fly by Arbogast boosted Middleton home, and Ness and Gardner singled in a row to score Menges. Zacher tried to sidewipe Hughes. Tom just did retrieve the ball in time to retire the side.

ABLES AGAIN.

Harry Ables breezed on to his second win of the week in the morning and cinched the series over the Angels. The Oaks fell on Jack Ryan in the second and fifth and banged over enough runs for a 5 to 1 score.

The second inning decided the contest. With one out Gardner singled and Zacher walked. Hetling singled and Gardner beat Wolter's peg home by an eyelash. Mitze singled and when the ball took a bad bound away from Maggert, Hetling followed Zacher home.

The southerners went after Ables in the third. Wolter beat out a slow roller to short and raced to third on Metzger's single. Maggert walked, Abstein hit straight to Hetling, who tossed to Ness, who relayed to Arbogast for a double play, Wolter scoring.

Ryan's other ineffective session was the fifth, when Arbogast, Ness and Gardner singled in succession, the last drive chasing in two runs.

The Comeback.

Harry Ables,

The Texas giant, who has made a sudden return to form, if the reports from the north are correct. He licked the Angels twice during the week, his second victory yesterday morning cinching the series for the Oaks.

BANCROFT AND RODGERS CLASSY.

TWO PORTLAND STARS ARE READY FOR THE BIG LEAGUES.

The Portland club has two men who are ready to step into the big leagues and play brilliant ball. Bancroft and Rodgers are the stars who have made the Portland infield like a stone wall with their dashing, powerful defensive tactics.

Bill Rodgers is one of the greatest second-sackers that ever palmed a grounder on the Coast. He is exceptionally fast and he utilizes his speed in every possible manner. He covers a wonderful amount of territory around second base. It is not unusual to see Bill tear back of first base and cut off drives that seem certain singles or doubles. A minute later he races over and pulls down a Texas leaguer in center.

Not only is he fast on the defense, but his speed and baseball sense have made him the best and most-feared baserunner in the league. Bill has stolen some sixty bases so far this season, and leads all the other players in the circuit by a wide margin. He takes a big lead, but has the ability to swing towards second or back to the bag with remarkable quickness from his crouched position. His ability to beat out infield hits and to stretch singles into doubles and so on, has raised his batting average above the .300 mark. He is a hard, timely hitter, and figures to play second on any big-league team that does not possess a Collins, Evers or Huggins.

Bancroft has developed into the best all-around shortstop in the P.C.L. He has a better whip than Corhan, his only rival, and is equally as fast. He cuts off a dozen or more hits in back of second base and goes over behind the third-sacker for all smashes that elude him. His tremendous whip from deep short has been the death of many a hit this season. His hitting has been coming up in jumps, until he is now advancing close to the .300 mark. His drives are all hard and he is one of the leading two-base and three-base hitters in the circuit.

Portland will have a hard job concealing both boys from the draft of the majors. One man is bound to go that way and the other is apt to figure in a trade or sale.

THE GREAT QUEBEC BRIDGE.

[Engineering Record:] In the erection of the Quebec bridge across the St. Lawrence River, which will have the greatest span in the world, over 60,000 tons of steel are to be assembled in three spans, of a combined length of 2830 feet, 150 feet above the water. The river is 200 feet deep, with a tide of sixteen feet and a current of eight miles per hour. Pieces weighing 185 tons and compound members nearly 800 feet long, weighing more than 1200 tons, are to be handled in midair and assembled and maintained with precision. Two cantilever arms must be built out self-supporting for 580 feet beyond their piers and remain exposed for months to the severest storms and a 640-foot double track 5000-ton railroad span must be built at a distance, ficated to the site, raised 150 feet and connected to them with great speed and accuracy.

It is expected that all this can be accomplished in four years of elapsed time, since work must be discontinued during the long and severe winters. To do this, elaborate provision is now being made for all the construction operations, the schedule is prepared for the successive steps and the details of operations are being minutely worked out. Even with this care the cost of installation of the whole erection equipment will hardly fall short of $1,000,000, exclusive of maintenance, supplies and labor, so that the total erection expenses reaches thousands of dollars a day for the actual working time.

At San Diego.

RIVERSIDE WILL PLAY MIDWICK TEAM TOMORROW

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 8.—Both the Midwick team of Pasadena and the Riverside team that are to play a match game Tuesday are in excellent form and a splendid game is anticipated. The ponies that are here for the summer games have improved wonderfully through the schooling of these games, and the intelligent animals appear to enjoy the play as much as the men.

The personnel of the teams is: Midwick—Ted Miller, No. 1; Reggie Weiss, No. 2; Harry Weiss, No. 3; back, Carleton F. Burke. Riverside—W. H. Dupee, No. 1; Harry Patten, No. 2; Hugh Drury, No. 3; H. Lett, back.

The polo stables here house a number of fine ponies, which will develop into excellent polo ponies.

Carleton Burke, captain of the Midwick team, has added to his stables of beautiful polo ponies six green ponies he is riding here this season. Of these Midwick, a fast little animal, Ramona, Rosia and Don Domo are showing up particularly well.

In the Burke stables at Los Angeles are many of the favorites of last year and the year before. Tipperary Boy, Natalie, Centinella and Scotty are four thoroughbreds owned by Burke that are beautiful polo ponies and were used by him last year and the year before in the big games which Burke played.

FOOTBALL SEASON LOOKS LIKE A RECORD BREAKER.

Many Inter-Sectional Battles, the Like of Which Were Never Before Attempted, Will Be Held During the Short but Active Reign of Pigskin, that Is Barely a Month Away.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Specter-like football is beginning to stalk baseball. Although the prospective pennant winners and world's championship contenders are yet in the making the gridiron game is barely a month away. Coaches and candidates for the eleven are studying the rules anew and soon the tackling dummy will tremble and sway under the clutch of the eager player, for on Saturday, September 19, the initial call to mimic conflict will sound and from that day until the first Saturday of December, football will rise and wane in its short but active reign.

Viewed from every angle the approaching season promises to be a most remarkable and record-breaking period in the gridiron sport. More than 2000 college and high schools are scheduled in the East, South and Middle West, and contests are to be played on every day except Sunday during the two and one-half months of the football cycle.

FEATURES.

Not in number of games alone is the coming season depending for its fame, however, for the 1914 campaign will witness features that cause football to stand out with unusual prominence. Many spectacular intersectional contests are scheduled, including the Harvard-Michigan game. Both Yale and Princeton universities will dedicate new and mammoth stadiums. A host of former famous players will appear as coaches and cities to which big football games are unfamiliar will entertain elevens, notably Washington, where the Army-Navy game will be played.

As has been the case for several years the Carlisle Indians and the Albright College eleven have the honor of opening the season with the game set for Saturday, September 19. Cornell follows close on their heels with the game against Ursinus on the following Wednesday, and on the succeeding Saturday Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and a host of other elevens in various parts of the country swing into action. Early in October the middle western and southern university teams don moleskin and from all points of the compass will come the sound of thudding pigskin and the clash of tackler and runner.

EARLY START.

Before the month closes the premier elevens of the country will begin to meet foes worthy of their best efforts and the season will be at its height. The schedule for the middle Saturday of October is typical of the increasing activity. Carlisle plays Pittsburgh; Amherst meets Trinity; Princeton faces Lafayette; Chicago lines up against the State University of Iowa; Oregon will oppose Washington State; Wisconsin and Purdue clash, and the United States Naval Academy will establish a precedent by journeying to Philadelphia to play the University of Pennsylvania eleven.

From this date on the big games follow rapidly. Saturday, October 24, finds among other prominent contests: Harvard vs. Pennsylvania State; Cornell vs. Brown; Princeton vs. Dartmouth; Chicago vs. Purdue; Michigan vs. Syracuse; Pennsylvania vs. Carlisle; Williams vs. Trinity, and Yale vs. Washington and Jefferson. The final Saturday of the month will witness the biggest intersectional game of the season when Michigan plays Harvard at Cambridge. Other sections, however, will not be lacking in feature contests, for Cornell and Holy Cross play at Ithica; Chicago and Wisconsin at Madison; Carlisle and Syracuse at Buffalo; Dartmouth and Amherst at Hanover; Princeton and Williams at Princeton; Notre Dame and Haskell Indians in North Dakota; Vanderbilt and Virginia at Nashville; Yale and Colgate at New Haven, and Pennsylvania and Swarthmore at Philadelphia.

AND NEARING.

The opening Saturday of November will find the college elevens of all sections on the edge for the championship games of the season. Close to 150 games between rival and well-matched teams are scheduled, the principal feature contests being: Minnesota vs. Wisconsin; Yale vs. Brown; Pennsylvania vs. Michigan; Mississippi vs. Tulane; Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt; Pennsylvania State vs. Lehigh; Wesleyan vs. Williams and Carlisle vs. Holy Cross. In the East at least the attention of the majority of football followers will be centered upon the Harvard-Princeton game at Cambridge.

The second Saturday of November will be a red letter day in football. Princeton opens the new Palmer Memorial Stadium with the Yale game; Cornell goes to Ann Arbor to play Michigan and Carlisle to Chicago to face the strong and spectacular Notre Dame eleven. Harvard has Brown as an opponent; Syracuse and Colgate clash; Illinois and Chicago meet in their annual conflict; Pennsylvania and Dartmouth do likewise, while Virginia and Swarthmore; Wesleyan and Trinity; Washington and Oregon and a score of other big games round out the day.

THE CLASSIC.

The football classic of the year will be played the following Saturday, November 21, when the teams of Yale and Harvard meet. Unusual features mark this game, for it will serve as the dedicating attraction of Yale's new stadium, generally termed "The Bowl," a depressed circular structure built to accommodate 50,000 spectators. Dartmouth and Syracuse play at Boston; Lehigh faces Lafayette; Chicago and Minnesota clash; Wisconsin and Illinois are opponents and many other games feature the day. The Cornell-Pennsylvania match is the premier attraction in the East on Thanksgiving Day, but other sections have equally interesting games. Notre Dame plays Syracuse in the latter college's stadium; Virginia and North Carolina meet at Richmond; Vanderbilt and the University of the South at Nashville, and Louisiana and Tulane at New Orleans.

The season closes with the Army-Navy game at Washington on the following Saturday, and the game between the two United States training academies is expected to take an added picturesqueness in its capital setting. For years those who are most interested in giving this contest a real governmental sanction and atmosphere, have sought to have the game between the soldiers and sailors played at Washington. Philadelphia, Princeton and New York, have all entertained the Army and Navy corps and it is a fitting climax to a most unusual and spectacular season, that this game be played at the nation's capitol.

The Value of One Owl.

[Farm and Fireside:] The prairie owl searches for food in the afternoons. By making these afternoon journeys he is easily distinguished from the other members of the owl family, as they seldom go out until night. The prairie owl, known sometimes as the marsh owl, eats insects, rabbits, mice, brown squirrels, gophers and now and then quail, grouse or water birds. More than 95 per cent. of his food consists of destructive quadrupeds and insect pests. In appraising the yearly value of a single owl to a farmer it would not be amiss to make it $30.

The tour will begin in October and extend into December.

SEALS CLEAN UP SACRAMENTO.

STANDRIDGE IS INVINCIBLE IN MORNING GAME; BAUM IS ALSO GOOD.

SACRAMETO (Cal.) Aug. 9.—By taking two games from Sacramento today, 12 to 1 in the morning, and 8 to 0 in the afternoon, San Francisco won five out of seven games for the series. Standridge allowed only four hits in the matinee and only once was in danger, while Arellanes and Stewart were both hit hard in the pinches.

By bunching their hits with stolen bases, errors and walks, the Seals made a runaway game of the morning affair. Baum held the Wolves to five hits and without an error by Charles would have won by a shutout.

Profits of Professional Begging.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] Indiscriminate bestowal of alms on the street may prove the generous heart of the giver, but does little credit to his judgment. The best motives will not operate to make the act wise. More frequently the giving does actual harm.

A New York beggar, arrested, was found to have $12,000 on deposit at interest. When his room was searched expensive evening clothes were found. The police learned he often dined downtown after a day of plaintive begging as he trod the streets, attired in dirty, ragged clothing.

He had supported himself in New York, cared for his wife in Europe, and accumulated a substantial sum by taking advantage of people generously inclined, whom he accosted on the streets. He had capitalized human sympathy for his own advantage.

A Substitute for Chicle.

[Youth's Companion:] A good chemical substitute has been found for chicle—the elastic base of all good commercial chewing gum. Chicle comes from a tree that grows in Yucatan. In the last ten years the United States alone has annually imported about 7,000,000 pounds of it, and even that enormous supply has been unequal to the demand. Gum-chewing, apparently, can be described as our national sport.

Cross in Shape.

Johany by several pounds. But Leach Cross says that Patsy will not weigh over 134 when he enters the ring. This should not be any handicap to Arrouzay as a few pounds amount to nothing.

This should be almost as interesting a contest as the main event, as both these youngsters are improving right along.

TRUSTEES MEET.

The Trustees are undecided as to whether they should allow them to continue without paying the full twenty-round license, which is $1200 per year, which seems to be a big amount to charge for four-round goes.

Out at Jack Doyle's the fans never, since he has opened his training quarters, have been disappointed. He delivers the class, first, last and all the time. His matchmaker, Earl Mohan, has proved himself a past master at his work and has been highly commended for his good judgment.

Everything that is clean and sportsmanlike can be seen at Jack Doyle's training camp any day in the year, and this has been the rule with Jack from the first day he started, and he has never varied an inch from that rule since he opened up.

His four-round shows have been all class with the best of order at all times. He insists that each and every boxer is properly trained and that they do their best as soon as they start.

He also pays every cent he agrees to pay and has all the preliminary boys begging Earl Mohan for a match. This is much more than can be said of other promoters that I know.

Doyle's four-round boxing shows are the best school in America to develop great boxers. They are clean, fair and sportsmanlike from start to finish, and it is hoped by all the sport-loving boxing fans of Los Angeles that the Trustees of Vernon, who have so far proved themselves to be good, clean sports, will see their way clear to allow Doyle to continue in his good work.

MAGGIE PEPPER IS HELD OVER.

Robert Fowler Pictures at the Majestic.

Trixie Friganza Featured at Orpheum.

"Maggie Pepper" is continued for the present week at the Burbank, and will be followed by "His Son," the new play by Dr. Louis Anspacher, with Henry Kolker in the leading role.

At the Majestic are being shown this week the motion pictures of the Panama Canal, taken from an aeroplane driven by Robert Fowler. Aviator Fowler appears at each run of the pictures and tells of his experiences during the flight.

At the Orpheum we have Trixie Friganza, "always a joy." Corradini's animals, including elephants, monkeys, horses and zebras, will be an added attraction. Sammy Burns and Alice Fulton, dainty dancers, are on the bill. The Five Melody Maids, assisted by a man, will furnish vocal and instrumental music. The acts held over are Liane Carrera, Anna Held's daughter; John and Mae Burke in "A Ragtime Soldier;" Yvette, the whirlwind violiniste, and the sketch "The Stranger," presented by Yule Munier and company.

Pantages has a feature in Vera Stanley and company in a scene from "Fra Diavolo," which Maud Daniel has arranged for vaudeville. Napoleon, the funny chimpansee, and Little Hip, his tiny elephant friend, will be on the bill. The other acts include juggling, acrobatics, banjo, guitar and saxaphone specialties, crossfire comedy and dancing.

At the Empress the top-liner will be the Eleven Kincaid Kilties, Scotch lassies and laddies in a Scotch revue. Frank Byron and Louise Langdon will present "The Dude Detective;" Sam Ash will be on the bill; also Joe Cook and his one-man vaudeville, and the Cavana Duo, instrumentalists.

At the Republic the headliner is the Magee Extravaganza Company in "The War Cry," a burlesque on the European war, with the dancing chicks and all the principals of the company in the cast; and there will be the usual number of other good acts on the bill.

The Great Leroy, an "escape" artist, will be at the Hippodrome, assisted by Mlle. St. Clair, the "Lady Raffles." Gorman's rough-house kids; Dunre Bros., singers and dancers; Kelly & Rowe in "A Night at the Theater;" Ralph Connor, ventriloquist, and Abrams & Johns in "As Men Go," a new sketch, will be on the bill.

"The Escape," the great film drama of Paul Armstrong's play, produced by D. W. Griffith, will continue for another week at the Auditorium.

Clune's Broadway will have a varied motion picture bill, and there will be shown the pictures of Broadway crowds taken in front of the theater last week.

Woodley's will present two feature films, "Woman Against Woman," a Klaw & Erlanger production; and "In Tune with the Wild," a sensational animal picture.

Miller's this week begins the policy of but one change weekly, and will show Klaw & Erlanger feature bills. Opening today is "Man's Enemy," a film drama on the liquor question.

At the Little Theater, Mary Pickford in "The Good Little Devil" will be the feature for the week, and an added attraction will be Ferrendo & Chase, society dancers.

Much Woe.

Orpheum actresses are bewailing the war and crying aloud: "What are we going to do for clothes?" Those who heretofore have depended absolutely upon Paris for gowns find themselves at present cut off from the source of supply. Yvette, the violiniste now at the Orpheum, expected some new gowns from Poiret, and is almost in despair because she fears the new gowns never will be received. Liane Carrera, Anna Held's daughter, also expected new dresses in the near future, and adds her wails to those of Yvette. No Paris apparel in sight, no chances for new styles of daringness—and these and other actresses give way to tears.

• •

More Rumors.

Dean Worley of the Empress is the fourth man to be selected for the job of general manager of the Pantages circuit; also he is the fourth Sullivan & Considine manager to be named for the job since Marcus Loew took over the S. & C. circuit. Now comes forward the announcement that there really has been a general manager named to aid Alexander Pantages, but he is not a local man. He is a New Yorker, and a force in vaudeville, and his name is not to be mentioned for the time being.

• •

Liane Carrera took her first aeroplane flight Saturday with Robert Fowler at Domingues Field, and liked it so much that she is going to repeat the performance this morning.

• •

Why, Marie!

There are rumors that Dainty Marie, who was at the Orpheum not long since, took a husband with her when she went East on a visit to her parents at Leavenworth, Kan. The man in the case is said to be Earl Fox, a well-known movie star, who was devoted to Dainty Marie while she was in Los Angeles. Fox disappeared at the same time Dainty Marie started East, and while the exponent of good form refused to make a statement, she smiled in a knowing way.

• •

Big Box Party.

The Hassayampans, who foregather in Los Angeles annually, will be here this week and will hold a theater party at the Orpheum tonight. They have engaged large blocks of seats for the occasion. John W. Mitchell of the Hollenbeck Hotel is making arrangements for the affair. This Arizona delegation is expected to have the most hilarious theater party of the season.

• •

In the Jug.

As usual with "handcuff kings," the Great Leroy, appearing this week at the Hippodrome, is going to let the city police look him up at headquarters Tuesday after the matinee performance, and then escape. The local police, it is said, are going to take the thing seriously this time, and are preparing all sorts of devices to hold a man where he is confined and make him "stay put." They declare that if Leroy gets out in time for the performance Tuesday night, he will have to beg for help.

• •

Coming Events.

Vinie Daly, a sprightly singer of grand opera caliber, who has been a feature in Buda-Pesth circles of music, will topline the Orpheum bill in a couple of weeks. Chrystal Hearne, daughter of a famous actor, and her sister, Julia, come next week in "Dora." Mme. Bertha Kalich will appear locally before the present month is at an end.

• •

Something Live.

There will be a live leopard at Woodley's this week. Part of the bill is "In Tune With the Wild," an animal drama, in which Kathlyn Williams starred. The leopard used in the film drama will be on display in the lobby of the theater all week. Tonight will be known at Woodley's as "Selig night," and the film actors and actresses, who played in "In Tune With the Wild," including Miss Williams, will be the guests of the management.

Fowler's Ideas.

Bob Fowler, famous aviator, was speaking yesterday of air craft in war. He is in Los Angeles at present lecturing when the motion pictures of the Panama Canal, taken from his aeroplane, are shown at the Majestic. But Fowler is in communication with British officials, and may be in the zone of war himself within a short time.

"The present clash is of great interest to birdmen and military experts," he said. As far as the air is concerned, the Germans probably will suffer most in the present struggle. This is because they have preferred the lighter-than-air machine, dirigibles, which offer good targets. The French and English have gone in for smaller, swifter, heavier-than-air machines, and the plan of battle in the clouds will be that of the falcon and the heron. Like the falcon, the French planes can mount high in the air and pounce down in long swoops upon their adversaries. Failing to destroy a dirigible with their guns, the aeroplane men can ram the dirigible. This would mean the death of the two men on the aeroplane, of course, but would also mean death for from twenty to thirty men on the dirigible, and many officers would face death to gain in such a way for their country."

Fowler was arrested because of the Panama Canal trip, the United States government thinking secrets were revealed by the pictures taken from the aeroplane.

• •

Real Authority.

Women have indulged in considerable speculation the past week as to whether the glowing mass of auburn hair worn by Yvette, the whirlwind violiniste, at the Orpheum, grows on her head or is of the beauty-shop variety. It is stated, in answer to a query, by the gentlemanly press agent of the Orpheum, that he made a personal inspection, and that each and every hair is attached to the head of the dashing French violiniste by the regulation root.

Mission Play.

Raymond & Whitcomb Co. of Boston is to act as general tourist representative of "The Mission Play." The company also is acting in that capacity for both the San Francisco and San Diego expositions. In all their offices throughout the world they will call attention to the play and place it on the "tourist map" for next year. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is sending out a special folder advertising the play and endeavoring to attract tourists to Los Angeles during exposition year. Thomas Cook & Sons and the railroad advertising departments also are advertising the play.

• •

New Boss.

Today Mr. George F. Fish takes over the management of the local Empress Theater for the Marcus Loew interests. Mr. Fish has for years been manager of the big Sullivan & Considine house in Cincinnati, where Trixie Friganza and John Robinson and other notables came from.

Mr. Fish originally was a newspaper man, and for a time was dramatic editor of the Philadelphia Enquirer. Afterward he married into the Forepaugh family, of circus fame, and deserted the newspaper for the amusement business. He was for years general manager of the Forepaugh press department. In that capacity he perpetrated the famous "white elephant" hoax that "got the goat" of the late P. T. Barnum. Afterward he became interested in stock productions, and for several years managed some of the principal stock companies of the country. Then he entered the vaudeville field. He perhaps knows as many theatrical people and newspaper men personally as any man in the country. When Marcus Loew took over the S. & C. interests he immediately offered Mr. Fish the management of the Los Angeles house, since Dean Worley had decided to make a change, and finally Mr. Fish decided to leave Cincinnati and take the position here. Now he says he is glad he did.

• •

A Sightseer.

Dean Worley, when asked yesterday what he intended to do, said he was going to remain in Los Angeles and take a vacation looking at the sights. "I have been so busy that, outside a few principal thoroughfares, I know scarcely anything about the city," he said. "I never have been to Long Beach or Catalina, and now that I have the chance I'm going to take in all the real sights."

Hunter Leaves.

Harrison Hunter, who has been working with the Burbank stock company, departs today with his wife for New York City, where, it is probable, he will have an important role in a forthcoming production.

Trixie Friganza,

"Always a joy," who has deserted comic opera for vaudeville and will be seen at the Orpheum this week.

Experience.

TRIXIE FRIGANZA HAS HAD STARTLING CAREER.

SHE was born in Cincinnati, and despite that handicap has made her way up the ladder until now she is perched on the top rung looking down upon the climbers. Trixie Friganza has become an institution with American playgoers. She has the good fortune to be a vocalist of distinction, a comedienne of quality, and after endearing herself to the public through comic opera she now comes forward alone and shows what she can do unhampered by certain songs and certain spoken lines. She appears this week at the local Orpheum simply as Trixie Friganza.

Trixie made her first stage appearance in "The Pearl of Pekin," in the chorus. She sang in the chorus of the old Carleton Opera Company, too; and at Wallack's Theater in New York, in 1893, she got her first real chance to show what she could do. The following year she was starred in "One Christmas Night." Thereafter she was with Della Fox in "The Little Trooper." But it was as the widow in "A Trip to Chinatown" that she made her first real hit and took her place among the leading comediennes.

Afterward she sang in "The Casino Girl" and in "The Belle of Bohemia," and also in "The Whirl of Society," scoring her first London success in the latter. "The Girl From Paris" followed, then "The Chaperons," "Sally in Our Alley" and "The Prince of Pilsen" and other bills in which she had prominent roles.

Later she was in "The Shogun" and "The Three Graces" and "His Honor the Mayor." She was with Eddie Foy in "The Orchid," and sang in "The American Idea" and "The Girl From Yama" and "The Sweetest Girl in Paris." She will be remembered as having been in "The Passing Show of 1912." Trixie may be said to have had experience.

Miss Friganza also has been credited with being the originator of two big song hits. One was "No Wedding Bells for Me," done with Eddie Foy, and the other, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Her fun-making is uproarious and clean.

The Big Chief.

MAYOR ROSE NOW NAMED AS TRUCK RUN STARTER.

HIS HONOR, MAYOR ROSE, is to officiate as honorary starter of the Motor Truck Dealers' Association reliability contest.

William R. Ruess has been named as official starter, but the Mayor is to send the first truck away next Friday morning on the long 200-mile run to Riverside and return.

The contest has attracted the attention of motor car and motor truck fans all along the route, and in each town touched by the course plans have been made for receptions and entertainments.

Mayor Rose has taken a great interest in the great race, which, it is claimed, will be the greatest of its kind ever held in the country.

At Wilmington, the first control, Senator Carter has rounded up a crowd of big leaguers, who will show the drivers and contest fans a royal time during the brief stop.

At Santa Ana, the noon control for the first day, San Jernigan, the City Marshal has been signed up as official starter, and he is to get the pilots on the way after their noon meal and short rest.

The Santa Ana Canyon road was found to be unsafe for the heavy trucks and the course was mapped to run through the La Brae Canyon instead.

At Riverside, the night control, great preparations have been made for entertaining the drivers and their friends, together with the entrants of the trucks, who accompany the heavy machines in touring cars.

The members of the dealers' association and officials of the tour are planning for a big time at the Glenwood Mission Inn Friday night.

Committees have been named at Redlands, San Bernardino and Ontario, where the trucks are to make short stops on the return run, Saturday. The noon control on the second day is to be at Ontario.

It was announced last night by J. F. Lakin, president of the Motor Truck Dealers' Association, that an invitation had been extended to all friends of drivers and others interested in the run, to accompany the trucks in touring cars.

Hitt Wallops Beavers.

completely squelched by Col. Hitt that they were afraid to clench their fists, save in the seclusion of the pit. Even the mighty kaiser strode to the front and begged for more work from the heavy artillery, but Col. Hitt had spiked their guns.

Lieut. Meloan opened the firing with a terrific two-base shot to left side of the field. Capt. Bayless became a martyr to the cause when he sacrificed his comrade to third. Lieut. Borton stirred by the example of personal bravery, fired heavily to center and Meloan raced home with the first telling blow of the day.

There was a lull in the fighting during the fifth, while the Tigers withdrew to a less-exposed position and recuperated their forces. The uncanny calm had the spectators on the housetops, moving around nervously. Elliott went to first in the fifth under the disguise of a single and spied upon the outer works of the invaders. He reported a large gap in their ranks and the commander sent his gunners on a smashing attack in the sixth.

Again it was Lieut. Meloan who fired the opening shot. He stole quietly to second and reconnoitered. Capt. Bayless of the French aviator corps flew to right and was wrecked and executed by Sergt. Doane after a thrilling chase. Bortonski, the Czar's first sacker, shelled the gap in the left outer works with a single that brought Meloan home. Bortonski stole to second under the erratic fire of Corporal Yants. The Kaiser, at this point, opened negotiations with Ambassador Martinoni, the Italian diplomat, and Admiral Lush of the Royal Swiss navy. He appealed to them for aid, but his forces were crushed and routed before the assistance could be secured. After his appeal to the allies, the Kaiser rushed back to the front and urged Gen. Higgy to check the disastrous advance of the Hogan men. It was a heart-rending scene, but all of Higgy's valor and resolution failed to stop Herr Litschi, the deserter, from sending a shell screeching into left, a shell that scored Bortonski and shook the outer fortifications of the invaders.

Gen. McArdle, the great Scotch defensive tactician, made the victory more complete and incontestable by discharging a single in the eighth that scored Herr Litschi with the fourth and last blow of the conflict, a conflict that left the Kaiser dumfounded and wailing over the mangled corpses of his Uhlans.

THE MORNING BATTLE.

The early morning engagement found the Hogan ranks unprepared for the effective sharp shooting of Admiral Krause. Commodore Koestner, pride of the Netherlands, held the raiders well in hand, but their shots were well placed and did deadly work against the wild cannonading of the Tigers. Only the marvelous defensive tactics of Gen. McArdle saved him from annihilation and a severe loss.

Private Doane roused a shout of approval from the Kaiser and groans from the seaside spectators of the war, by opening the assault in the second with a blow to left. Buddy Ryan, the Irish ally of the Kaiser, rifled a single to center advancing Doane to third. The private scored while Ryan was being killed off at second on Kores's grounder.

We will pass over six innings of neutral territory and gaze upon the strenuous ninth inning, hand-to-hand fight that decided the battle in favor of the Kaiser's men. Capt. Rodgers penetrated the outer defense with a safe drive and stole his way to second. He died suddenly at third when Gen. Koestner grabbed Doane's rifle ball and shot him by the way of Herr Litschi. Ryan perished at first, putting Doane on second. Dangerous Kores, the dashing Uhlan, fired safely to center and Doane counted.

Commander Hogan rallied his troops in the last skirmish of the day and had them fighting over the dead bodies of their comrades. Carlisle was murdered at home by the elusive delivery of Gen. Krause. Private Leard of the English light infantry walked through Krause's poor aim and charged to third on Sergt. Kane's single. Capt. Bayless forced Kane to an untimely end at second while Carlisle scored. Herr Litschi made a strong resistance at the plate, but his efforts had little influence on the larger operations of the invading forces who swept him into the strike-out column as they rushed over the battlefield with the game and series in their grasp.

LOCATING FOREST FIRES.

[Popular Mechanics:] The fire-fighting force in the national forests is organized to detect and locate a fire accurately the moment the first wisp of smoke appears, as well as to get to it and start fighting it without delay. In the mountain forests lookouts are placed on peaks that command extensive views of the forest. A constant watch is kept during the danger season by men equipped with binoculars, and in this way the first indication of a fire is discovered. Each lookout station is equipped with a plane table covered with a map on which a large circle, divided into 360 degrees, is drawn. Over this is placed a straightedge which carries two standards for sighting, the straightedge being pivoted at the center of the circle. When a fire is discovered this instrument is sighted to it and the angle is read at the point where the straightedge intersects the circle. This angular measurement is telephoned to the supervisor's office, and, in combination with a similar measurement from another lookout, serves to locate the fire definitely on the map in the supervisor's office, the location being found by drawing out the sight lines from the two lookouts to an intersection with each other.

WOES OF GERMAN OFFICERS.

Must Keep Up Appearances on Small Pay and Must Never Descend to Level of Men in the Ranks.

[Pittsburgh Gazette Times:] Recent scandals and the issue by the Kaiser the other day of a circular forbidding his officers to have any dealings with matrimonial agencies have called attention once again to the peculiar position of the army officer in the German social cosmos and his incessant struggle between extravagance and simplicity of living.

In Germany the officer is, of course, the lion of fashionable and aristocratic society, the object of admiration for the ordinary tradesman and always a person of absorbing interest, if not always an idol, for the crowd in the street. He is the hero of the schoolgirl and the ornament of every social function of note. He commands the greater share of the popular interest which in France goes to the new dresses of the day, and in England so largely to the smart and youthful aristocracy.

There are two reasons why this should be so. In the first place, the German empire was founded by the sword, and a great number of the leading statesmen also have been soldiers in their original profession; also the rule that officers shall invariably wear uniform is applied here more strictly than in any other country in Europe. Officers, therefore, are far more frequently noticeable.

Yet, a great many of these popular idols—aristocratic as they may be—are poor, as poor as the traditional church mouse. And the pay is so moderate that their parents have to pledge themselves to supply an allowance of $15 a month to a lieutenant in the infantry, $20 a month to an artillery lieutenant, and $35 to a cavalry lieutenant. A few of the crack regiments demand higher allowance, including one guard regiments in Potsdam demands $5000 a year.

The officer must never descend to the level of the ranks; he must ride in the half-penny tram, he is even expected to pay the usual tip to the cabby on the box. To do all this on a pay of one or three hundred a year, besides family allowances, requires the assistance of either a carefully kept account book or a still more carefully chosen money leader.

And when the money question in the matrimonial market is the most tempting to be ignored, the officer has by no means the first claim to a wealthy daughter willing to undertake the task of regenerating impoverished aristocratic husband.

Tradesmen often seem to have the idea, and some colour is given lightly as the officer is concerned. Hence the first orders for some of the most celebrated dresses in recent years, including the most remarkable cases of the Count Zeppelin, have been placed by officers' wives.

Careful inquiries have shown that money lenders and moneylenders have lately come to play an important part in regimental circles. Therefore the latest order of Emperor.

The Cawston Ostrich Farm

[Dallas News:] It is estimated that altogether 250 acres of ground outside of the prism of the Panama Canal, and containing 27,000,000 cubic yards of material, will have to be dug down into the canal. This material would be sufficient to build a wall ten feet thick and ten feet high, reaching from New York to San Francisco, and it would require 1000 of the big Lidgerwood steam shovels and a train that would reach a distance of 13,000 miles.

Victory Barleycorn's.

said by Mr. Fowler to be in Pittsburgh.

There were, however, several personal letters, from Mrs. Emma Chichester, Chichester House, Tobyhanna, Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania; from R. S. Ackman, box No. 88, Brooklyn, N. Y.; the number of the Burnside Commandery, Royal Arcanum, and from F. A. Martin of the Interborough-Twenty-third Street Ferry Company, Incorporated, New York.

Besides the letters there were in his pockets 13 cents, a knife, a handkerchief and some small trinkets.

DRINKING HEAVILY.

The modest room which Capt. Reed occupied at the Hotel Morgan, No. 619 West Eighth street, gave mute evidence of his years of military training. Rows of neatly arranged garments, carefully hung uniforms, letters filed systematically away and the many books on field artillery work seemed a part of his daily life, just as they must have been constant reminders of the work he had given up.

When Capt. Reed registered at the Morgan Hotel on July 21, he asked for the cheapest room in the place and for a week's time to pay, saying that he hoped soon to be on his feet and that then he would wish a room with bath, as he had always been accustomed to such quarters. He paid only the first week's rent. Manager Harris stated last night that Capt. Reed had seemed very discouraged the last few days and had been drinking heavily. In his room last night were several empty liquor bottles. They had evidently been purchased at a drug store.

That Capt. Reed had contemplated such an act is indicated by the fact that every letter or paper referring to his private life had been carefully destroyed.

E. M. Fowler, a real estate man with offices at No. 519 Hollingsworth building, mentioned in Capt. Reed's final note, said at his Pasadena home last night:

"I knew him but slightly, having met him a few weeks ago when he came here after voluntarily resigning from the army. He was an officer of artillery, with the rank of captain, but I do not know to what he was attached. He was about 35 years old.

"Mrs. Reed, I believe, is in Pittsburgh. Both are of good families. I do not feel at liberty to mention names.

"Since coming to Los Angeles Capt. Reed had been trying to sell real estate."

C. S. Hamilton, who signed the guest card of the Los Angeles Athletic Club that was found in Capt. Reed's possession, is general manager of the James R. H. Wagner Company, the real estate firm for which the retired officer worked for a time after coming here.

CAREER IN ARMY.

Capt. Reed, a native of New York, began his army career as sergeant of volunteers, later being appointed a second lieutenant in the regular artillery. He was at one time with Battery F, Fifth Field Artillery, at Ft. Sill, Okla., and was later transferred to the Second Field Artillery, with the rank of captain. Though he rose until only about a third of the captains in this arm of the service held seniority over him, he was court-martialed in February, 1913, for violation of a liquor pledge, and reduced to the junior position in the list. This action is summarized as follows in the Army and Navy Journal of June 20, 1914:

"Capt. Harris F. Reed, Second Field Artillery, U.S.A., who has resigned from the army, is a native of New York, and was appointed a second lieutenant in the Artillery Corps of the army after previously serving as a first sergeant and second lieutenant in the 201st New York Volunteers. He was court-martialed in 1913 for violating his pledge to abstain from alcoholic liquors for one year, and was sentenced to dismissal. President Taft mitigated the sentence to a reduction to the bottom of the list of field artillery captains. He became a captain in the Second Field Artillery in 1910."

"Second Field Artillery, Col. E. A. Millar. Capt. Harris F. Reed, Second Field Artillery, from sick in Department Hospital, Manila, to proper station. (June 2, Phil. D.)"

The same order appears in the Army and Navy Journal of June 27, 1914, dated May 18.

HASSAYAMPA WEEK.

Two Hundred and Fifty Arizonans Here From Out of the City for the Annual Celebration.

The annual festivities of the Arizona Hassayampa Society will begin this evening with a theater party at the Orpheum. Seats have been reserved for 400. Two hundred and fifty out-of-town members have registered at the society's headquarters at the Hollenbeck, which have been open for ten days. The registration bureau is in charge of Charles H. Wild, secretary of the organization.

The Hassayampas' annual reunion and picnic will be held at Venice Wednesday. Special cars will leave the Hill-street station of the Pacific Electric beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. A business session and election of officers will be held at the Venice Auditorium at 11 o'clock. A ball, given under the auspices of the Venice Chamber of Commerce, will be held in the evening at the Venice dance pavilion.

GRIND OUT REPORTERS.

University of Southern California to Install Courses in Journalism and Advertising This Fall.

Courses in advertising and journalism are to be added to the curriculum of the University of Southern California this fall, both subjects being offered three times a week throughout the year. The practical aspect of newspaper and advertising work will be emphasized in all cases, according to the announcement of the instructor, B. O. Bilven, advertising manager for Harris & Frank. News-writing, editing, headlines, "make-up" and similar matters will be worked out by the students by actual practice in connection with the university daily, while the course in advertising will deal with the writing of copy, planning a campaign, making layouts, checking returns, etc.

Mr. Bilven, who will give the work, is a member of the Educational Committee of the Los Angeles Ad Club, and the similar committee of the national organization, the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. He has had several years of metropolitan newspaper experience, and is a graduate of Stanford University, where he assisted in the journalism work for some time.

our friends. We cannot ask them to come to our home. With nothing tangible done, we are the rankest outcasts. We could not associate with our kind. We have been forbidden all those pleasures that makes life worth while.

"When I realized the extent of the power of my enemies, I stopped associating with the other boys whom I liked, and who liked me. Many of them came to me secretly and told me how sorry they were that such a condition should exist, but they said that they didn't dare be too friendly.

"I did not wish to make their plight similar to my own, and I didn't attempt to associate with them because I knew it would injure them if it were known that they were in my company.

"Then I learned that this letter had been written about me by Clark. I took the whole thing to the general manager of one of the biggest transcontinental roads, and after he had ordered a thorough investigation he gave me a job. That was what he thought of the persecution, and he gave me that job in the face of the disapproval of the Brotherhood.

"I got possession of the letter, and now I am going to clear my name in the courts. I have suffered a terrible loss, not only financially, but also because of the boycott that has made it impossible for me to associate with my friends."

Attorney Walter T. Casey is representing Monroe. He verifies his statement as to re-employment in spite of the Brotherhood.

ANY OLD STAMPS TODAY?

Philatelic Society Plans Exhibit at Public Library for Week Beginning August 24.

Stamp collectors in short pants, and gray-headed philatelists are busy preparing for an exhibit of rare postage stamps, envelopes and other treasures dear to their hearts, which is to be held in the juvenile department of the public library during the week of August 24 to 29.

The Southern California Philatelic Society, at its last meeting, appointed a committee to help with the arrangements, and its members are selecting some of their best specimens. The boys who use the public library are the ones who suggested the exhibit, and they, too, are making ready. All the stamps will be shown under glass, and many valuable ones will be loaned for the week.

The exhibit is held by the library to show the connection between its books on philately, geography and history, and the scientific study of stamps. The Philatelic Society has arranged to give two prizes for the boys who take part. One of these will be for the best exhibit, and the other for the best composition on one of several subjects. One of these is a history of the Overland Express, and early western postage stamps. All boys who wish to take part should see Miss Britton, head of the children's library.

ASK WOMEN TO AID.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 9.—Invitations are being prepared for a big conference to be held here in a few days for the purpose of getting the members of the Women's Club to join with the men in the commercial clubs for a betterment of conditions in those organizations. The idea of the leaders of the civic bodies is that no good can be done without the women, and in view of this conclusion, the women will be invited to attend the conference. The several city clubs will probably be consolidated into one big boosting organization that will combine the work of the several clubs. No date has as yet been set, but in the course of a few days the date will be announced.

And so Miss Henry is reversing the order and going to him. She will have to reside in Scotland thirty days before the ceremony can take place, according to the laws of that country.

Her husband-to-be has had a splendid career. He was one of the brightest students in the British Isles and at the age of 20 was given his Master of Arts degree by the University of Edinburgh. He has traveled extensively and has a wide reputation in Scotland as a speaker. The town of Leven, where Rev. and Mrs. McGowan will reside, is practically a suburb of Edinburgh.

MASS OF LETTERS TELL OF RELIEF AKOZ HAS GIVEN TO THOUSANDS

New Medicinal Mineral Has Found Great Favor Because of Wonderful Curative Properties.

No stronger proof of the merit of Akoz could be found than the great mass of letters from those who have been relieved of their ailments by using this exceptional mineral discovered near Yosemite Valley by John D. Mackenzie, former State Labor Commissioner and State Harbor Commissioner.

Akoz has won a most enviable place as a remedy for rheumatism, stomach, kidney, bladder and liver trouble, eczema, catarrh, piles and other ailments during the year and a half it has been on the market.

Of the thousands who have ended their ailments by using Akoz, following is a list of a few of the residents of Los Angeles and vicinity, who have voluntarily written the Natura Company telling of their recovery:

Mrs. Jay B. Alexander, 1640 Shatto street, rheumatism, liver and bladder trouble.

E. D. Zehner, real estate dealer, 2044 Milan avenue, rheumatism and neuritis.

T. J. Dunnigan, head porter, Van Nuys Hotel, stomach trouble and piles.

Senator W. H. Savage, attorney, San Pedro, stomach trouble and bronchitis.

Mrs. Clara Witherspoon, 324 Avenue 62, Garvanza, catarrh, rheumatism and paralysis.

S. J. Brown, 115 West Seventeenth street, rheumatism.

G. W. and J. N. McCay, Redlands, rheumatism and chronic constipation.

Mrs. Frank Jackman, 408 West Forty-seventh place, rheumatism.

W. C. Le Febver, 226 North Olive street, fistula.

W. A. Vowinkel, refiner, 1526 East First street, kidney, bladder and stomach trouble.

Adam Brown, dairyman, Arroyo Grande, sciatic rheumatism.

Mrs. Minnie Fortson, 1230 B street, San Bernardino, nervous stomach trouble.

Mrs. Grance Cole, actress, wife of "Cole the Cowboy Poet," San Diego, kidney and stomach trouble.

D. A. Butler, 948 South Crocker street, retired optician, stomach trouble.

Wm. Power, elevator operator, Los Angeles County Jail, 882 East Fifty-fourth street, rheumatism.

Alleged Confession Points to Two Suicides.

City Council Cuts Down All Department Demands.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Aug. 9.—Relatives of Mrs. Margaret Eley, a widow, aged 29, who lived at No. 711 West Broadway, are assisted by the police in a frantic search tonight for her or her body. Ben Cleghorn, life guard at the Golden-avenue station, who had been Mrs. Eley's closest friend during her stay here, reported this morning that she had committed suicide by swallowing strychnine tablets. Cleghorn and Mrs. Eley both are missing tonight, and the police are unable to fathom the mystery surrounding the case.

"Mamma and I went out to the end of the pier last night," lisped the 7-year-old son of Mrs. Eley to Mrs. Ada Gartner, landlady, at No. 711 West Broadway, yesterday morning. "She said we would jump off into the water and drown ourselves. I said I did not want to die, and we came back."

These words from the youngster led Detectives Cervantes and Mitchell to believe in the suicide story. They are redoubling their efforts to find Cleghorn, the life guard.

TEARFUL TALE.

Cleghorn visited Bud Thompson, life guard at the Atlantic-avenue station, at 10 o'clock this morning. Cleghorn broke down as he told Thompson that Mrs. Eley had committed suicide. He said that she had swallowed strychnine tablets and that he had held her hand while she died, the services of two doctors not availing. Cleghorn seemed almost overcome, and Thompson did not get any of the details from him.

Thompson told E. H. Dougherty, at whose apartment-house relatives of the woman stayed. Mrs. H. H. Martin, a sister, and Mrs. Henderson, mother of Mrs. Eley, were almost prostrated over the news. They appealed to the police.

Detectives Cervantes and Mitchell went to the apartments occupied by Mrs. Eley at No. 711 West Broadway and found almost all of Mrs. Eley's belongings gone. The landlady told them that Mrs. Eley, seemingly in the best of spirits, had had her trunk moved to the Salt Lake station by a transfer man at 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

The police have not learned whether or not Mrs. Eley took the train, but asked the Los Angeles police to look out for a suicide of a woman of her description. Their inability to locate Cleghorn and learn where and when, if at all, Mrs. Eley killed herself, leaves the case tangled.

Mrs. Gartman, of the West Broadway rooming-house, states that Mrs. Eley and her little boy have been occupying rooms No. 3 and 4 in the place, which is owned by C. A. Johannsen, for about two months. Cleghorn was a frequent visitor to the place and the two were often seen together down on the sand. Mrs. Gartman states that a quarrel had evidently occurred between the two lately and Mrs. Eley has been acting queerly.

BUDGET SLASHED.

One of the most important sessions of the City Council, extending until nearly midnight last night, ended in the fixing of the budget of the coming year and lowering the tax rate to $1. A wide swath was cut in the array of figures presented by the heads of various departments, and economy will be the watchword all along the line. All the department heads have been notified not to ask over one-twelfth their allowance each month.

The assessed valuation of the city was placed at $30,000,000. The difference in the budget figures as presented by department heads and as followed is placed at $212,929. The figures for the departments as allowed, follow: Streets, $106,432; water, $225,000; public buildings, $21,678; Board of Public Works, maintenance, $9300; Pacific Park, $3640; Bixby Park, $4370; Bluff Park, $905; Knoll Park, $635; cemetery, $858; pound, $980; beach front, $4550; garbage, $15,000; sewers, $5419; Pine-avenue pier, $2290; municipal dock, $3050; Assessor, $7070; band, $20,000.

In the general fund the budget allowed the following amounts: Elections, $5000; Council, $1250; charity, $3600; rebate, $500; bonds, $1000; printing, $4500; job printing, $1000; engraving bonds, $500; gas inspector, $650; West Beach, $5500; auditorium, $1000; Independence Day celebration, $150; harbor, $5000; special counsel on auditorium suits, $5000; miscellaneous, $13,000.

The miscellaneous funds go for entertainment of conventions, picnics and distinguished persons, advertising the city, and the like.

ADVENTISTS GO DRY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Aug. 9.—Five thousand persons attended the special California "dry" meeting at the Adventist camp today. The addresses of the day were made by Dr. T. J. Evans of Loma Linda, Dr. Guy W. Wadsworth, general superintendent of the California Dry Federation; Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, national lecturer W. C.T.U.; Dr. V. H. Lucas of Pasadena, and Ernest Lloyd. The address of each speaker aroused keen enthusiasm. According to Dr. Wadsworth, the science, morals, education and the business of the State demand the elimination of the liquor traffic.

GARDEN GROVE FESTIVAL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 9.—Committees have been appointed here for arranging a gala day on August 22. The celebration is to be for the purpose of marking the completion of street paving, the completion of the double track of the Pacific Electric and the general prosperity that has prevailed in this section. Crops have been good and prices pleasing, so that the people feel like inviting their friends in for a good time.

RUNNER-AMUCK WOUNDS FATALLY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Aug. 9.—Juan Hernandez, aged 36, is thought to be dying in the County Hospital with two bullet holes in his groins, and Jesus Ortez, aged 25, captured after an exciting four-hour man hunt, is held in the City Jail to face a probable murder charge as the result of a drunken brawl on South Sultana avenue in the Mexican quarter at an early hour this morning.

Hernandez and Ortez are said to have quarreled over some trifling thing and when the former used abusive language, the latter is said to have rushed to his home, secured a revolver and upon his return, to have commenced firing promiscuously. Francisco Torres, another man in the party, was slightly wounded on the leg.

Ortez made his escape after the shooting and upon the arrival of officers, led by Patrolman Arthur Axley, a posse was formed and the man hunt began.

The shooting occurred about 2 o'clock, but it was nearly 7 when Ortez, having been run down by the posse, was found, cowering beneath a culvert on the Riverside drive to the east of the city. Hernandez has a wife and two children. Ortez is unmarried.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN.

Buzechiobo Giobanni, just arrived in this country from Italy and unable to speak a word of English, had a narrow escape from death this morning when he jumped from a moving Southern Pacific train at Laurel avenue, sustaining a triple fracture of the right arm and a deep scalp wound. He refuses to offer any explanation for his act. He was en route from Los Angeles to the Italian winery at Guasti.

BIG BUILDING PLANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 9.—With permits aggregating $20,000 issued today by the building department for a number of fine homes and one business structure, August promises to snatch from July the distinction of being the heaviest construction month of the year.

Among the permits issued today were three to Albert Schliem for residences of adobe construction, estimated to cost $2500 each, to be erected on Palm avenue. P. T. Evans will erect a garage to cost $5000 at No. 510 Main street. This will be conducted under lease by F. W. Parsons.

Plans have been completed for the grand stand for the new site of the Riverside County Fair Association, and will be considered by the directors Monday night. The structure will have dimensions of 40x200 feet, will accommodate more than 2000 persons, and is estimated to cost $3000. A feature of the seating arrangements is the ten boxes designed to provide especially choice seats at the front of the structure.

PRIZE BIRDS STOLEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN GABRIEL, Aug. 9.—At a late hour last night thieves raided the poultry ranch of W. F. Balling, widely known as a fancier of poultry, stealing eighteen Silver Champion birds, valued at $150. The chickens were among Balling's finest stock, having been awarded six first prizes out of seven entries in recent poultry shows. Constable Manzer has been at work on the case since early morning, but no clew has been discovered. Balling has offered a reward of $25 for the apprehension of the thieves.

Soldiers' Home.

COUNTRY GIVES OF ITS BOUNTY.

Million and Quarter Spent Here on Veterans.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Aug. 9.—Expenditures and disbursements at this branch of the National Home, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, as learned from the annual report recently forwarded to the president of the board of managers in New York, totaled $1,256,490.10. Of this amount there was disbursed to pensioners and their families $786,644.97.

From the general fund there was expended $427,584.74, the largest items among which were, under the head subsistence, $197,866.53; household, $62,141.40; hospital, $51,992.36, and repairs, $49,360.36. Total disbursements from the post fund was $52,260.39. For services, merchandise, etc., for store and hotel, $24,776.93, and for amusements, entertainments, purchases of books for library, repairs to buildings, etc., $18,187.35.

The whole number cared for during the year was 4237—upon which figure, it should be observed, is based all averages relating to members. Average present throughout the year was 2363; average present and absent, 3265. The average age of 3878 members, who served in the Mexican and Civil wars, was 72.74; of 359 in other services or wars, 48.68. Of the whole number, 287 served in the regular army, 3770 in the volunteer army and 180 in the navy. But one, the youngest member, is 26; the oldest is 97. The greatest in number are aged 69, of whom there are 369. After that age there is a steady decrease in numbers.

The surgeon's report in the annual shows that there were treated in the hospital for every ailment known to man, 7042 cases; surgical operations, 3472. Of deaths there were 236 within the Home and fifty-one while absent from the Home, making a total of 287. In contrast with mortality of 1913, when the total number of deaths was 337, would suggest that sanitary conditions in the Home are constantly improving.

The entire medical staff, consisting of five surgeons and a carefully selected corps of nurses, make of the Home's hospital one of the most efficiently equipped institutions of its character in the country.

RECENT DEATHS.

William L. Sloan, formerly of Co. B, Third Minnesota Infantry, a native of Pennsylvania, admitted from Boulder Creek, Colo., in 1909, died August 6, aged 78.

Isaac N. Downey, formerly of Co. I, First Indiana Cavalry, a native of Indiana, admitted from Templeton, Cal., in 1914, died August 5, aged 80.

JUDGE OFFERS TO PAY COSTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 9.—Judge John W. Shenk of Sierra Vista, while backing his automobile so that he might get around an electric car stationed at Mission street and Fair Oaks avenue this morning, ran into O. L. Van Eman, No. 1131 Grevalia street.

Van Eman, whose eyesight is impaired, was riding a wheel and crossed the path of the backing machine. Luckily he came out of the accident uninjured, although his wheel was demolished. No one who witnessed the accident laid the responsibility upon the judge, but he asked that the wheel might be repaired and charged to his account.

The contract has been awarded for the South Santa Anita school and work on the foundation is already in progress. The corner-stone will be laid in a short time, although the definite date has not been set.

The grounds and building complete will cost $20,000. It is to be of concrete construction, modern in every particular. It will have an auditorium, principal's, teachers', and six classrooms.

NEWS BRIEFS.

In keeping with its custom the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation has reduced the price of gas from 70 to 65 cents a thousand. That is the new price in Los Angeles and the same rate always follows here. The reduction is on account of the mixture of natural and manufactured article.

R. N. Nickevich, No. 1832 Monterey road, one of the sewer contractors of this city, has been requested to go to Montenegro, his native country, to lead a regiment in battle. As Nickevich's work is not finished he cannot go at present, but says if they are still at war in three months he will then go to the front. Many of the men working for Nickevich, nearly all of whom are Slavs, would go with him, but they do not think it is possible to cross the ocean without being captured.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mason, No. 2032 Pine street, who recently landed in Europe, are much concerned for their welfare, as no word has been received from them.

Dr. William Freeman Snow, professor of public health and hygiene at Stanford University, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Browning, No. 1227 Diamond avenue. Dr. Snow is a member of the American Social Hygiene Association of New York City, and former secretary of the California State Board of Health.

CAUGHT IN OWN TRAP.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 9.—Eugene Whitlock, age 60, was killed on the Whitlock ranch in Alameda county, when he walked into a trap set for a coyote. A gun fired a shot that tore away one of his legs, and he bled to death. Whitlock was a pioneer of San Bernardino and brother of Omer Whitlock of this city.

COSTLY BATH; SOME ESCAPE.

Angeleno Party Caught in Drinking Water.

Physician to Coach Throop College Athletes.

Noted Astronomer Recovering from Operation.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 9.—Because he bathed in the Big Santa Anita creek, Max Arnold of Los Angeles was arrested yesterday and will be tried in Judge Frank C. Dunham's court this morning on a misdemeanor charge, preferred by Walter Zachau, a forest ranger.

With Arnold were four or five of his friends who succeeded in making their escape, after reaching Pasadena, while Zachau was telephoning Judge Dunham to issue the warrants for their arrest.

Arnold and his guests were enjoying to the utmost their cool ablutions in the mountain stream when they were ordered out of the water and after hurriedly donning their clothes rushed to Pasadena, where all but Arnold made their "get-away."

The penalty for bathing in these mountain streams is imprisonment from one day up to six months.

PROVIDE FOR WOUNDED.

In securing the services of Dr. A. W. Smith, a doctor of medicine, as athletic instructor, Throop College will introduce a new and novel policy among the colleges of California.

The new coach will not only be able to instruct in the intricacies of football, but he will also be able to care for the wounded.

Before leaving for Europe last spring Dr. James A. B. Sherer, president of the college, asked the Finance Committee of the board of trustees for authority and the money to engage a trained and alert physician with coaching experience so that the physical welfare of the students might be made the main feature in directing the athletic activities of the college.

DR. HALE IMPROVING.

Dr. George Ellery Hale, noted astronomer and scientist, who was operated on at the Pasadena Hospital Saturday morning for appendicitis, is slowly improving and spent a restful day yesterday.

Mrs. Hale, who rushed across the continent to be at his bedside when the operation was performed, has been at his side almost constantly.

NASTY FALL OVER CLIFF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASADENA, Aug. 10.—Herman E. Park, 25 years old, of No. 800 North Lake avenue, Pasadena, while on a hike in the big Santa Anita Canyon Saturday, slipped from a precipice and fell thirty feet, receiving, it is feared, a fractured skull. He is also suffering from scalp wounds and other bruises about the body.

After falling Park lay unconscious for about two hours, and then walked back to camp, where he was cared for at the emergency camp in the canyon until yesterday, when he was brought here on a stretcher and taken to the Pasadena Hospital, where at 10 o'clock last night, surgeons announced that there was a deep depression, probably a fracture of the skull.

Park is local manager for the Kerckhoff-Cuzner Lumber Company, and is married and has a little daughter.

RUSHING EXHIBITS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 9.—D. F. Hunt, who has charge of collecting the exhibit which Santa Barbara county is to make at the San Francisco exposition, has just returned from the site of the fair, and reports every building a scene of activity. Germans, French and English are working eagerly on their structures as though no war were in progress. All the nations are in this country. Santa Barbara county will make especially fine displays at both the San Francisco and San Diego expositions.

HOMESTEAD RUSH.

Tomorrow the government will open to entry 80,000 acres in Antelope Valley. Already a big rush is being prepared and it is expected exciting scenes may follow. The land is in some instances very valuable, though, according to the government report, it is low grade. The greater portion of the land lies along the southern boundary of the reserve and the new road the county is to build to San Joaquin Valley.

RECREATION CENTER.

Dedicatory exercises for the recreation center are to be held tomorrow night. City officials and club organizations will be represented. The structure which is to be the scene of the social work carried on by the Margaret Baylor of the Neighborhood House Association is an attractive structure, splendidly planned and furnished for social work.

MEXICAN SERIOUSLY ILL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 9.—The outcome of a fight at an early morning dance wind-up this morning is very serious when Marcel Ellis, a sheep-ing-camp worker, who was injured was found by the police at the home of a friend on Eighteenth street. The injured man had been given practically no medical aid and his friends had only been washed with inexperienced hands. The man was taken to the St. Catherine Hospital, where he now is. The fight occurred about 4:30 a.m. and the friends of the injured man were afraid to take him to a doctor or report the matter to the police. According to the latter tives, Jesus Espinoza is the man whose whereabouts are unknown since the cutting.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 9.—Prominent members of San Pedro Lodge No. 966, B.P.O.E., were amazed this afternoon while lounging about the popular Elks Club when informed that the place had been raided by the police.

There was a clang of the police patrol and a squad of police officers in uniform, headed by Lieut. W. L. Spellman, who is in command of the harbor station, burst into the room, where well-known business and professional men were enjoying social card and billiard games.

As many as it would hold were loaded into the wagon and with the bell clanging, driven through the business center to the police station. Here they were introduced to Chief Sebastian, who informed them that the harbor district now has a real patrol wagon and that he had taken this means of informing them of the fact and giving them its first ride.

AGED PROSPECTOR RESCUED AFTER BITTER MISFORTUNE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, Aug. 9.—Misfortune in its bitterest aspects has visited R. Masen, a Danish prospector now in the care of the Humane Society of this city. Masen started with his camp-wagon, two mules and a horse from Phoenix, for Los Angeles several months ago, after an unsuccessful prospecting trip in Arizona. The old man, almost 80 years of age, finally reached the California side, but one of his mules fell sick and the other was bitten by a rattlesnake, making travel slow and difficult.

The climax of his misfortunes came when his wagon and bedding was accidentally set on fire. Practically all of his equipment was destroyed by flames, the bed of the wagon was ruined and his little hoard of money, $140 in currency, burned up.

The aged prospector had but one idea then, to get to his friends at the Danish and Scandinavian Society in Los Angeles. But his third horse fell sick and travel became more and more difficult. With his miserable outfit, the old fellow passed through many Southern California towns, almost starving, his horses staggering and his wagon ready to drop to pieces. When he arrived in Monrovia the Humane Society was immediately notified and the old prospector's caravan was headed for the city pound.

First aid was administered in the shape of hay for the horses and mules and a hot dinner for the old man, who broke down and cried when a heaping tray of good things was placed before him. He did ample justice to the meal, however, and expressed his gratitude in broken English.

It was found impossible to save the two mules, which were shot yesterday. The horse will be fed well and with its owner will be sent to Los Angeles as soon as his friends can be located by the society, one of the officers having gone to make inquiries today.

NATIONAL ENGINEERS INSPECT DIEGO HARBOR.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 9.—The members of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, who are making an inspection of projects for harbors and rivers of the Pacific Coast, arrived here this evening from Washington. In the party are Col. W. M. Black, who is at the head of the board; Col. F. V. Abbot, Col. Lansing H. Black, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Newcomer, A. H. Webber, secretary of the board, and Maj. R. R. Raymond, Los Angeles district engineer.

The party were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at dinner at the Grant Hotel tonight and tomorrow will inspect the harbor and consider the projects for its betterment asked for by the Chamber of Commerce.

The party will leave for Los Angeles at noon where they will inspect the Los Angeles Harbor and the harbor at Long Beach. Among the projects to be considered by the board in Los Angeles, according to Col. Black, are the breakwater at the harbor and the flood conditions and the disposition of the debris in the San Gabriel River. The party will inspect all harbors and rivers along the coast from here to Seattle.

Usually the board has passed upon projects coming before Congress from information gleaned from maps and reports, but owing to the numerous big projects requested and deemed necessary on the Pacific Coast, Col. Black states that it was thought advisable that the board make a trip of inspection.
